AMAZING REVELATIONS ARE MADE FIGHT TO ANNUL OIL LEASE BEGINS

WOMAN TELLS OF STOCK GAMBLING BY ATTY. GENERAL

Divorced Wife of Jesse Smith, Now Dead, Sets Dizzy Pace at Opening of Inquiry—Tells of Irregularity by Daugherty and Smith—Describes "Big Profits" They Expected to Make.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Harry M. Daugherty's confidential man, Jesse Smith, who committed suicide a year ago, again was the star witness today before the Daugherty investigating committee.

Senators not only sought to draw out details of her story yesterday in which she included some astonishing insinuations about Smith and Daugherty, but also made effort to establish new lines of inquiry involving liquor cases and other matters that were pending in the justice department.

As a result of her testimony, Senator Wheeler, of Montana, the committee prosecutor, announced would call Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, and Max Daugherty, of Ohio, the attorney general's brother.

Among other things, committee men want to know whether there was any attempt on the part of friends of the attorney general to have suggested information reaching the committee, to avert Miss Stinson's appearance on the witness stand.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—The Daugherty investigation, for the moment at least, has eclipsed the oil scandal in the way of sensationalism, with Miss Stinson of Columbus, Ohio, still on the stand today after setting a dizzy pace yesterday at the opening of the special Senate committee's inquiry into the attorney general's administration.

Miss Stinson, who was the divorced wife of Jesse Smith, of Washington, D. C., a confidential "bumper and friend" of Mr. Daugherty, was brought here by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, "prosecutor" of the inquiry, after a secret trip to Cleveland, to question her and the opening of her story was punctuated with amazing insinuations, inferences and charges.

Sobbing whenever her narrative brought back the memory of her former husband's suicide a year ago in Daugherty's apartment here, she gave the committee a breath-taking tale of relations between the two men, Smith's wealth, when he came to Washington, 1921, to be wounded attorney general, she said, and how he appropriated $175,000 but had increased at the time of his death to $250,000.

She testified that her former husband had called on her and had told her of other "deals" from all of which she insisted, he and Daugherty were to profit. The attorney general, she said, was not specifically mentioned when Smith had said "we" meant Daugherty and himself and she frequently used "they" in referring to the same two men.

Smith at one time, she testified, told her the picture of the Carpenter-Demmer that "we" expected about $180,000 in profits if exhibition of money fight could be arranged and on another occasion she said she had seen her husband entrusted to her for sale, 55 shares of White Motors stock, telling her "they" had obtained it without cost. Smith, she added, said so had come into the hands of the Pure Oil Company of Ohio. She was on the point of speaking about "a mysterious greenhouse on K street" when she was relieved from further testimony until today.

Several clashes between Senator Wheeler and Paul Howard, chief of Mr. Daugherty's personal counsel, marked the opening session. An attempt by Mr. Howard to intervene in the examination of Miss Stinson brought Senator Wheeler to the end of the committee table with a declaration that he did not intend to be bull-dozed and an effort to present a statement on behalf of the attorney general also brought a rebuff.

TOWN TOPICS

Ballard Keen's condition which caused deep apprehension throughout yesterday, was improved this morning. He spent a restful night, reports from the hospital added, and he has passed from the delirium from which he has suffered since being found suffering from brain pressure.

No definite clues have been found pointing to the perpetrators of a robbery committed on Monday night at the J. L. Harris Filling Station, on the River Road. The place was entered during the wild night, twenty dollars taken from a slot machine and a quantity of tobacco, also some automobile tools stolen.

Mrs. P. H. Boiesau has accepted appointment as a member of the City Home Commission, which was recently made by the welfare committee of the council. Her letter of acceptance was received by the clerk of the council this morning. He expects to finish this within a day, he said this morning. In the meantime the commission is planning to discuss the appointment of a matron to take charge of the home when it is completed.

The newsboys of the city will hold one of their regular meetings at 7:15 o'clock tonight at the Y. M. C. A. Jack Whittington, scout executive will have charge of the event which will include a business meeting, a work out in the gym followed by the serving of refreshments and a social hour.

DENY GARRETT'S NEW HEARINGS

Motions For Another Trial For Both Men, Convicted of Killing Minister, Over- ruled—Ordered to Pen.

(By The Associated Press.)
CUMBERLAND COURTHOUSE, Va., Mar. 13.—Motions for new trials for Robert O. Garrett, Cumberland county clerk and his brother, Larkin C. Garrett, were overruled today by Judge B. D. White, in Cumberland county circuit court and the brothers were ordered confined in the State penitentiary at Richmond for periods of five years and four years, respectively. They had been convicted of shooting to death the Rev. Edward Sylvester Pierce in front of the Baptist parsonage here on June 3, last.

Robert Garrett was found guilty by a jury drawn from Southampton county of second degree murder, and Larkin Garrett was convicted by a jury of Surrey County citizens of manslaughter after the latter's first trial had been discharged because, as Judge White declared in his opinion today, "at least three or the jurors were not impartial."

Defense based their motions for new trials for the brothers on the ground that the court erred in granting a change of venue at the request of the Commonwealth; that the jury in the two trials were improperly drawn and that Larkin Garrett was discharged by reason of his first trial. Exception also was taken to the placing of the jury in Robert Garrett's case in charge of the court's instructions to the jury and to several other points.

Declaring that "these cases considered together, have presented material and important questions," Judge White's opinion, a typewritten document of seven pages, added:

"The application for bail, and three of the jurors charged with excitement, with bitter and tense personal feeling apparent on all sides, and the circumstances were so peculiar that it was necessary that the court should be protected by armed guards."

"Probably the most important question presented," Judge White declared, "is based upon the action of the court in granting, on behalf of the Commonwealth, a change of venue."

The opinion cited sections of the state law in this connection, and continued:

"This court first tried, against its better judgment, in view of the affidavits and evidence presented to it, and the record shows that this was a disqualifying factor. At least three of the jurors were not impartial. With this experience and the original affidavits and evidence and further affidavits before it, the court then directed a jury to be summoned from another county. The court endeavored to follow the alternatives: First, to procure an impartial jury from the vicinage; then an impartial jury from another county. In overruling this point, the court can do no better than quote the language of the Supreme court in Ruffin's case, x x x

"In the R. O. Garrett trial, it appears that no writ of venire facias was issued by the clerk summoning the jury from Southampton county. This omission was taken advantage of in due time by counsel for the accused. A writ of venire facias is essential in all felony cases, and the clerk must without formal order of the court issue the writ. In any case other than this one this error might be fatal. x x x In this particular case the court entered an order directing that a jury of 60 qualified persons be summoned from Southampton county, from a list to be furnished by the judge of that county. The clerk entering this certifying that order was the accused; it was his duty to accompany the order with the writ of venire facias; he had been deputy and clerk for 17 years and he now comes into court, by his counsel, and asks that the verdict be set aside and a new trial granted because there was no writ of venire facias. It would be the height of folly and the greatest injustice to permit him to come into court and move for a new trial. It would permit the accused to take advantage of his own ignorance, neglect or fraud. It does not appear that such irregularity was such as to cause injustice to the Commonwealth or the accused."

In regard to the discharge of the jury in the first trial of Larkin Garrett, Judge White declared that there was "a manifest necessity for such discharge, because at that stage of the case it had been discovered that several of the jurors were not fair and impartial jurors, having therefore expressed opinions, or were opposed to capital punishment."

"To have held otherwise," the opinion stated, "would have been a travesty upon justice."

"Upon the whole case," the court concluded, "the accused have had fair and impartial trials and the motions for new trials will be overruled and judgment entered on the verdict. It is therefore ordered that R. O. Garrett be confined in the penitentiary for the period of five years as ascertained by the jury in their verdict and that L. C. Garrett be confined in the penitentiary for the period of four years, as ascertained by the jury in their verdict."

France Believes Nations Confident In Her Efforts

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, March 13.—The powerful support given to France in her exchange battle testifies to the justifiable confidence of London and New York in the economic effort of our country and the firm resolution of the government to follow through its vigorous policy of economy, says Finance Minister De Lasteyrie, in an interview with Excelsior.

Neither England nor the United States has any real interest in the depreciation of our money. A fresh fall of the franc brought about by pure speculation would entail necessarily a closing of the French market to the Anglo-Saxon exporters and the world-wide crisis of unemployment, settlement of which now is being sought, would only be aggravated.

PRESIDENT EBERT DISSOLVES REICHSTAG

(By The Associated Press.)
BERLIN, March 13.—President Ebert dissolved the Reichstag today. His action is in consequence of the determination of the Socialists to insist on revision of special emergency ordinances promulgated by the government, notably tax regulations.

Before the decree of President Ebert was read, the deputies adopted a bill, fostered by Dr. Hjalmar Schuler, president of the Reichstag, providing for the establishment of a new gold discount bank in Germany.

FRAUD CHARGED IN BILL FILED BY GOVERNMENT

Court Asked to Issue Injunction Stopping Oil Production, Appoint Receiver and Enter Decree Cancelling Contracts—Conspiracy and Irregularity Charged.

(By The Associated Press.)
CHEYENNE, Wyoming, March 13.—Charging fraud, conspiracy and illegality, the government filed its suit here today to cancel the Teapot Dome lease and contracts. The governments special counsel petitioned the United States District Court to do three specific things:

- (1). Issue a temporary injunction stopping oil production.
- (2). Appoint a receiver to take charge of the properties.
- (3). Enter a decree cancelling the leases and contracts, returning the properties to the government and enforcing an accounting.

Former Secretary Fall was charged with making false representations to the late President Harding, which resulted in the transfer of the lands from the navy to the Interior department. The government denied that there was any warrant of law for leasing the lands at all.

The bill further alleges that Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, the latter acting for the Mammoth Oil Company, "ent combine, conspire and confederate to defraud the United States."

The result of these alleged acts, the government's bill recites, was to lease the Teapot lands to the Mammoth Oil Company at an inadequate price and to enter into an improper and fraudulent consideration.

Former Secretary Denby, in connection with the transaction is described in the government's bill as "having exercised no discretion" and his signature is characterized as "merely a colorable attempt to evidence the compliance by him in its terms."

The Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company and the Sinclair Pipe Line Company, operating storage facilities on Teapot Dome, were made parties to the suit as "trespassers" to be ejected, their properties to be taken over by the government.

Prepared by former Senator Pomeroy and Owen J. Roberts, special counsel for the government, the bill goes over much of the ground covered in the Senate investigation. It recites that former President Harding was without authority to transfer the lands but did so on "false representations" from Fall, "who desired to deal with the lands 'not in the interest of the United States but to the advantage, profit and benefit of the Mammoth Oil Company, and in particular Harry F. Sinclair."

When the bill charges, Fall, by "conspiracy" arranged for Sinclair to acquire such suits claims from the Pioneer Oil "with intent to stifle competition."

"At the same time, it is recited, Fall agreed with John C. Shaffer, the newspaper publisher, to see that Sinclair set apart certain of the leased lands for 'the benefit of the said Shaffer.'

"By the acts hereinbefore set forth and other matters," the governments bill concludes, "Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair had fraudulently and covinously combine, confederate and conspire to defraud the United States, and the result of their alleged acts was to get the Teapot lands leased to the Mammoth Oil Company at an inadequate, improper and fraudulent consideration."

BUSINESS MEN URGED TO HEAR PLAN EXPLAINED

GRAPHIC STORY OF FATE 5 MEN IN SHIP WRECK

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Mar. 13.—That loss of life in the sinking of the liner Santiago Tuesday night maybe less than previous reports indicated is possible.

Coast guard headquarters here about noon today received by radio from the Manning this message:

"The Manning received the following message from the steamship Pittodon:

"Intercepted message from SS Colinas at yesterday saying they picked up boat containing ten men from SS Santiago and expected to pick up the rest."

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., March 13.—How five men died when the ill-fated Ward Line steamship Santiago went down Tuesday night 45 miles southeast of Hampton Roads, Va., was graphically though briefly described in radio advice received today at Coast Guard Headquarters here.

The first and third officers were swept overboard during the battle of the Santiago crew to save her from the raging sea. Three others of the crew were drowned as they tried to leave the sinking ship; when the battle had been lost.

So far as is known only one boat succeeded in getting safely away. That contained the ten men picked up by the Norwegian steamship Cissy, bound for Baltimore.

Though the Manning had made efforts throughout the night to communicate with the Cissy the coast guard cutter was unsuccessful until this morning.

Naval communications office at the Hampton Roads base which was in touch with the Manning as she sped down the coast toward the scene of disaster, also endeavored without success through the night and early morning to pick up the Cissy. Then, shortly before noon today, came a message from the Cissy. The steamer did not state her position, but it was believed that she was proceeding at a rate that would bring her in sight of Cape Fear, ten hours' run on to Baltimore, it is understood.

The Cissy's message today said: "Position of picked up crew of Santiago, latitude 34.53 north; longitude 75.53 west."

"According to survivors tarpaulins and hatches were carried away by seas. The ship was gradually taking a heavy list to starboard, and water was coming in to the hold. Fires under the boilers were put out and pumps stopped."

"The first and third officers were carried away by the very heavy seas while they were trying to secure hatches. Three men drowned leaving the ship."

"The Cissy stayed all night searching for boats, covering several miles of darkness, but nothing seen. The sea was very rough."

The Santiago, bound from Cincinnati, Cuba, for New York with cargo of sugar, sank during Tuesday night's gale. Her master, Captain J. S. Baird, and 25 members of her crew were lost.

RISE IN FRANK

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, N. Y., Mar. 13.—Fortified by the $100,000,000 credit established here for the Bank of France, the franc mounted fifteen points to 135 cents at the opening of today's foreign exchange market and then soared another eleven points to 146 cents. The rise, following early gains in London, was accelerated by a rush of shorting covering.

Burch, of Martinsville, chairman of the Democratic Committee of the Fifth Virginia District that a meeting of the committee will be held in Danville Saturday week, Mar. 22nd, for the purpose of determining the method of nominating a candidate for Congress and to set the date for the primary or convention whichever may be chosen. The text of the announcement sent to each member, is as follows:

"You are urgently requested to be present at this meeting."

The only two candidates known to be in the running are the incumbent, C. Murray Hooker, of Patrick, and Marshall B. Becker, of Madison.

Marketing Association Officials and Farmers to Gather Here to Consider Proposition of Vital Im- portance to Danville.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce this morning joined in expressing the hope that tomorrow's meeting to be held at ten o'clock in the auditorium of the Danville Temple would be largely attended by the merchants and professional men of this city. The meeting, as already announced, is for the purpose of organizing a Danville branch of the Interstate Credit Corporation of Baltimore or a "credit bank" as they are popularly known which would be of great value to farmers in realizing money on the certificates of participation issued by the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Marketing Association. Farmers will attend the meeting from throughout the Virginia bright belt, bankers will be present from that area and in addition officials of the marketing organization, notably Oliver J. Sands, executive director of the organization in Virginia, Tucker C. Watkins, director of warehouses and a representative of the credit corporation from Baltimore.

Community interest in the undertaking is growing and it is expected that tomorrow's meeting will afford Danville the opportunity of showing in tangible form what it has expressed prior to this time through the Chamber of Commerce, that it is eager to do its part in making possible the establishment in this city of an institution which will be of material service to that large element of the tobacco-raising community, Danville which has elected co-operative marketing as the most satisfactory way to dispose of their crop. Indications already point to a large attendance of merchants and will have the opportunity of hearing the operating methods of the bank, and at the same time a chance to show the falsity of misleading statements which have been spread through the surrounding rural section regarding Danville's attitude which were not based on facts, but which were encouraged by interests apparently hostile to the best interests of the city.

No program has been arranged and it will be a daily business meeting at which time Danville business men will have the proposition put up to them formally for the first time for their consideration, together with a full and authentic explanation of the working of the bank and just what the marketing organization would have Danville do in providing for its establishment here.

Local organizations are lending their support to the movement which means much to the future good of the city and it is anticipated that Danville will be found prepared tomorrow to do whatever may be asked of it.

Labor Government Receives Setback

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Mar. 13.—The MacDonald Labor government received a setback in the House of Commons today when the proposal of J. R. Clynes, deputy leader, in the House for the suspension of the 11 o'clock adjournment rule, which would allow the government to defeat a vote of 234 to 207. The House, however, does not consider this a vital defeat.

RETURNS TO RICHMOND

C. M. Robertson, school architect of Richmond who has been here conferring with the Danville school board as to its major needs returned to Richmond last night after spending some time with Superintendent C. Griggs and expressing his views to the board. The main purpose of his visit was to advise the board in what way the money made available by the bond issue, should be carried out in the most economical way. It is understood that the board will at a later date entertain suggestions by local architects should they offer them but no contract for plans and specifications will be entered into until the outcome of the election on June 10th is known.

JAPAN SEES A GRAVE ISSUE WITH U. S. OVER OIL LANDS FRUSTRATE SINCLAIR EFFORT

(By The Associated Press.)
TOKYO, Mar. 13.—Japanese military authorities have frustrated an attempt by J. A. McCullough and D. F. MacLaughlin, American surveyors representing Sinclair Oil interests, to enter the Northern section of the island of Saghalien.

The authorities have taken the two on a Japanese gunboat from Saghalien to the port of Otsu, in Hokkaido, it became known today.

The Americans, accompanied by a Russian guide, entered Saghalien from the Siberian mainland after proceeding by way of Kotka, Finland, Haborovsk and Nishchinsk. They were stopped at Aburatsubo by military officials who declared a determination not to permit representation of an American company to conduct surveys under concession from the Soviet government, which Japan does not recognize.

McCullough and MacLaughlin are believed to have gone to Peiking.

The Japanese took occasion to comment on the possibilities of a grave issue between America and Japan over the valuable oil fields.

Artillery Band's Fine Inspection

The annual federal inspection of the 24th Artillery band, a local unit of the national military establishment, was made last night in the band's quarters in the Municipal hall by Major C. L. Felton, who is on the staff of General Smith at Fort Monroe.

This excellent band, which has been under the command and active direction of Warrant Officer Albert A. Hall since its organization, has attained proficiency and maintained the interest of the musicians enlisted in it to unusual degree, as the splendid showing made at inspection last night amply attested. There were present last night in full uniform and equipment 28 of the 32 bandmen enlisted, and of the others, one was ill and the others were out of town, giving the organization an attendance percentage and rating of 88.

Major Felton, who made a pleasing impression on those inspected by his stimulating and encouraging talk which followed the inspection, inspected uniforms, equipment and instrumentation of the band is believed to have been well pleased with these as well as with the interest in the organization and its efficiency as a military band. In his address to the bandmen he emphasized loyalty as one of the first and best characteristics of a soldier or a bandman, an enthusiastic distinction inasmuch as the musicians are themselves soldiers also. His appeal for loyalty to the country, to the military agencies, to their commanding officers, and their superiors in general to duty of which he has a high conception, impressed his hearers. He incidentally emphasized the importance and the duty of regular attendance on the band as a part of a man's duty to his country, his command and himself. The talk is expected to prove highly encouraging and stimulating to Warrant Officer Hall and his group of musicians.

The 24th Artillery band is looking forward to an appropriate and enjoyable celebration of its anniversary, now tentatively planned for April 28. Its preliminary plans embrace a dinner, followed by a dance at some suitable downtown auditorium and hall at which the wives and daughters of the bandmen and the performers themselves will have opportunity to meet each other and enjoy a social evening together, thus promoting the loyalty of the men to the band and their interest in it and making the command one with some of the pleasure of the people and as means of increasing their attachment to and interest in their own local government.

ATTOREY STATES LAW IS JEERED AT BY FOREIGN SHIPS

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 12.—Upholding the seizure today of the British liner Orduna by the government after a raid in which liquor and narcotics worth $10,000 were seized, United States District Attorney William Haywood tonight charged that virtually every foreign ship entering New York harbor allows traffic in liquor and narcotics.

"On every ship they sneer and jeer at the United States and openly defy our government with arrogance," said Colonel Haywood, who personally led the raid which resulted in the issuance of an order in Washington by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for the seizure of the Orduna. Eight members of the Orduna's crew were arrested in the raid.

"Either there is the lowest stage of discipline on the ship which is a constant menace to passengers," said Colonel Haywood, "or the boat officers themselves, or possibly the lines themselves, are in collusion and sharing in profits."

"The government of the United States, through the Treasury Department, did everything in its power to prevent annoyance or serious interference with the routine of the ships, permitting liquor to be carried as medical stores. These ship people, instead of accepting this concession, have frequently violated it and abuse the privilege on every occasion."

"In the case of the Orduna, it is perfectly clear that they were bootlegging liquor in great quantities, which were never included in medical permits, and that they have been constant smugglers of narcotics. I expect to report all those facts to Washington, with the recommendation that the United States government be granted for the purpose of maintaining good will be revoked and that we be allowed to stand squarely on the laws of the United States and make them apply to foreigners the same as they apply to our own people."

REPORT OF BIG LOAN TO FRANCE

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator Shipstead, former labor member from Minnesota, brought reports of a proposed $500,000,000 private banker loan to France, to the attention of the Senate today during discussion of the farm relief measures.

Citing government loans for all purposes during the war, Senator Shipstead said that the French government and Company's $100,000,000 loan to France was assumed by the United States just after the country entered the war and added: "It would be interesting to know if it is true that the $500,000,000 loan, which is now being made, is a loan that had on our entrance into the war of Democracy. It will be interesting to know what effect this loan to the imperial government of Poincare will have in getting us into the next war."

RIO CONSIDERS MEANS SKINNING THE U. S. TOURISTS

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 12.—"American Millionaire" is one word, or should be hyphenated as the very least, in the opinion of most Brazilians. It is doubtful if many citizens of this country could be brought to believe that there exists a "poor American," or even one in "moderate circumstances."

Perhaps the motion pictures are responsible for some of this golden opinion. The film millionaire is always an American. The traveling American, however, must assume the rest of the blame. His generosity is famous. His tips are bigger and he pays higher prices than any one else in fact he rather enjoys his reputation for reckless spending.

But while the American may enjoy a sense of generosity, he likes to believe that his spending is a matter of free will. He has no patience with being over-charged just because he is American.

For this reason, visiting and resident Americans are growing under the adoration of a double scale of prices by the hotels, restaurants, and certain other business houses of this city, one set of prices being for Americans and the other for Brazilians.

The plan to make Americans pay more than others was described in a story published recently in the Journal do Commercio. The abnormal exchange situation was advanced as a reason. The dollar is now worth three times as many milreis as it was a few years ago. While the general increase in the cost of living has cut the purchasing power of the milreis in half, the dollar has steadily increased in value. The Brazilians feel that the Americans are getting all the best of it.

By charging special prices to Americans, the article says, the Rio Janeiro hotel and restaurant men are killing two birds with one stone: they are increasing their receipts, and at the same time are able to keep prices down for their Brazilian customers.

There is a tendency to include other foreigners in the special price scheme on the suspicion that their income is established on the gold basis, but Americans are the main objective.

Grandpa, "Grandpa" is more than 300 years old and still going. He's enjoying life at the Bronx Park Zoo, New York City, and is quoted as saying he'll be glad to stick around this old globe for another 300. Anyone with the courage to do that should receive some special attention, taking our hats off to the least we can do.

ASBURY ATTENDANTS VANQUISH WESLEYANS

The attendance contest at the Main Street Methodist church mid-week prayer and song service showed a total present of 132 last night, even in the face of uncomfortably chilly weather and several strong counter-attractions which drew many of the usual attendees elsewhere. The Francis Asbury division vanquished the Wesleyan hosts last night with a total of 74 Asburians to 58 Wesleyans, the worst drubbing the Wesleyans have yet had. The explanation is that many of the Wesleyans are psychologists and were attracted by an opportunity of learning more about their favorite science, while others musically inclined were drawn elsewhere.

Dr. Smoot in his address chose as his subject "Francis Asbury" and this also may have had its effects in boosting the "Asburians." Many doubtless wanted to learn more about their namesake. If so, Dr. Smoot enlightens them with much interesting information as to the early Methodist bishop and builder of the church in America.

MISUSE OF MAILS CHARGE

MEMPHIS, TENN., March 12.—Ernest McLendon, dog fancier at Germantown, a suburb, and M. L. Kirkpatrick, former cashier of a bank at Bartlett, Tenn., near here, were arrested last night on federal warrants charging misuse of the mails in the sale of dogs from McLendon's kennels. Both were released on bond pending a hearing. McLendon furnishing $5,000 and Kirkpatrick $2,500 bail.

McLendon was convicted on a similar charge sometime ago.

The warrants today were issued at the instance of Inspector V. Suggs of the Postoffice Department, whose affidavit charged that McLendon sold five dogs to D. B. Purdue, of Richmond, Va., for $550, but delivered canines inferior to those advertised.

The association will next week hold its annual meeting and election of officers. The election of directors is a foregone conclusion, nomination of seven and the fact that no opposition has developed, assuring their election. The completed board will meet soon to elect a president of the association and other officers.

The active canvass in the membership campaign will begin Monday morning when the teams, armed with lists of eligibles and new members, will start out in their quest to augment the membership of the association to 1,000. Optimism prevails as to the outcome of the canvass, but no shirking or "taking it easy" is anticipated. The committees are "going after em", both renewals and new members, with zeal and persuasiveness.

Plans for the enlargement of the Association building are to be taken up soon after the prospective reorganization meeting.

REJECT PROPOSAL FOR 1923 INCOME TAX ACT

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Plans for reduction in income taxes payable this year are again centered in the revenue bill, House Republican leaders having rejected President Coolidge's proposal that the provision be taken from the measure enacted in a separate resolution before first installment is due Saturday. The bill, as passed by the House, now is in the Senate finance committee, which continued its discussion of various provisions today with Secretary Mellon.

Compliance with the president's request was impossible, Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, told him yesterday, explaining the parliamentary situation was too involved to permit speedy consideration of such a resolution. Mr. Longworth indicated later, however, that if action on the revenue bill should be delayed or if it should fall of enactment, the proposed separate resolution would be passed. Most of the small taxpayers already have made their first payments, he added, and therefore, separate action now would be of little benefit.

Democrats in both the Senate and House criticized the president for his request, and Representative Hull, Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic national committee in a statement declared "the utterly belated tax message of the president is in harmony with his past record of delay when confronted either by an important problem or by an emergency situation."

The Senate finance committee was told yesterday by Secretary Mellon that the revenue bill passed by the House in its first year of operation would fall short at least $55,000,000 of raising sufficient revenue for the government.

TROOPS CLEAR DOME PROPERTY OF TRESPASSERS

Commander Tells Oil Committee How Marines Took Action On Orders of Secretary Roosevelt.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—How American Marines cleared Teapot Dome of trespassers after that oil reserve had been leased to Harry P. Sinclair was described today to the oil committee.

Major General Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, was the first witness in this line of inquiry. He said orders for the action were issued by Theodore Roosevelt, then acting secretary of the navy, who also was called to testify.

This was in July, 1922. General Lejeune said, and George E. Sweeney, a captain, was selected after a conference with Secretary Fall, to command the detail sent to Teapot.

Four enlisted men were selected to accompany Sweeney who now is treasurer of New York State.

Roosevelt had ordered that men of "fact and discretion" be chosen. General Lejeune said, so as to avoid trouble.

Shuler telegraphed on August 24 that his mission had been accomplished. Later Fall wrote the navy commending Shuler for his work.

Asked whether he did regard this as an extraordinary use of the marine corps, the general said he did not consider that point at all. He simply obeyed orders.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt testified that the request for the clearing of the Teapot Dome came from Fall, who was quoted as saying he and the president wanted "settlers" ejected as they were about to take oil on which the government would have no royalty.

Fall told him, Roosevelt said, that Secretary Daniels had taken similar action.

Secretary Roosevelt did not recall anything very clearly about a protest from the governor of Wyoming against applying force to remove trespassers.

On July 29, 1922, Colonel Roosevelt said, he found a note from Fall to the effect that "there were trespassers or squatters on the Dome" about to take oil from which the government would have no shares.

In conversation with him later, the witness continued, Fall said he and the president wanted some marines sent to put these people off the oil reservation. The secretary added, he said, that he had not expected President Harding to favor the action because one of the men engaged in trespassing was a friend of his. This, however, he declared, made no difference to the president.

In selecting a marine officer for the duty, Colonel Roosevelt continued, he had sought to get some man who would not do anything "get in to a fight or shoot anybody."

Senator Walsh read into the record a letter sent to George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the president by H. H. Tamm, of the Denver Post under date of August 1, 1922, characterizing the situation in Teapot Dome as "an awful mess."

Tamm called Christian's attention to an article in the post on the ejection of the Christian Oil Company from Teapot. Christian transmitted the letter to Fall with a request for material on which to base an answer and Fall responded with a history of the naval reserve and a discussion of the legal controversy raised as to title upon it.

It was the duty of the navy, the interior secretary's reply insisted, to protect the reserves and, he added, that the marines were the navy's police force for that purpose.

sharp exchange. The committee twice voted, this time to reject requests of the Daugherty counsel to have the statement received before finally accepting it into the day's record.

The statement declared that Mr. Daugherty "resents and condemns the indiscriminate broadcasting of unsubstantiated rumors, whispered criticisms and false and scandalous statements, for which no one is responsible," and welcomed "any candid and to establish truth." He demanded that if any development should warrant "the formulation of any express charge," against him, "it be put into direct" terms and that he be permitted at once to answer.

Narrow Escapes In Wreck at Reidsville

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Mar. 13.—Mrs. J. B. Baisley, Mrs. H. P. Baisley, Mrs. King and Miss Mattie Gulliam were injured and narrowly escaped death Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, riding in Mrs. Baisley's Dodge car they were run into by a Ford coupe occupied by two traveling men, B. O. Holland, of Baltimore and Wm. T. King, of Louisville. The accident happened just south of the co-operative warehouse on Scales St. Messrs. Holland and King were driving into town from Danville and Mrs. Baisley was en route to North Reidsville taking home the two ladies from the Main Street M. E. church. The badly wrecked car were well on the side of the road to which Mrs. Baisley was entitled. The two traveling men also were slightly hurt though it is not believed that any of the parties are seriously injured.

The fire broke out a few minutes after 4.30 p. m. Mrs. Paxton was at home and was resting at the time. She was aroused by the sound of something falling and thinking it was a rat which had caused the noise she went to the attic door opened it and darted back in time to avoid a sheet of flame.

At the moment John Boswell and Charles White were standing on Main street and happened to be talking about the house which Mr. Boswell built. As they turned to look at it they saw flames sweeping across the roof. Others also had seen the fire and the alarm at the corner of Jefferson and Main streets was rung bringing out both motor engines in quick response. By the time the fire engines arrived the entire roof was in a light blaze and by the time the first line of hose had been coupled the wind carrying the soaring flames northward imperiled the James apartment just as it sprang into flame. Other firemen manned a second power stream and by degrees the fire was controlled but not before it had burned through the roof and water had cascaded down into every room damaging seriously much of the furniture. Some of this was carried out safely, however, before damage had been done.

Firemen were credited with having made a creditable showing in combating the fire in view of the big start it secured and the height of the wind at the moment.

The aggregate loss sustained by the fire is estimated at about $10,000 which is covered by insurance.

Mental House Cleaning Lectures Still Drawing

Interest in the lectures on practical psychology continues to grow. About 200 people were present at the Masonic Temple, yesterday evening to hear the lecture on psycho-analysis or mental house-cleaning. This phase of psychology explains the why of human conduct and personality and defines the method of sweeping out the mental cobwebs and riding mind of subconscious ghosts.

In yesterday's lecture, diabetes, which comes under the subdivision of psycho-analysis, was discussed at length, setting forth the cause of the disease and the remedy to be used in successfully combating it. Another interesting feature of each program is, answering the questions at the close of the lectures, and some of them create real amusement.

"Price or Penalty" is the subject for discussion at 8:15 this evening.

Relief From Cold Weather Promised

(By The Associated Press.)

ATLANTA, March 13.—Relief from prevailing cold weather in the south was promised for most sections with forecast of fair weather for several of the South Atlantic states and for partly cloudy or cloudy weather in others. Cloudy weather and rain were predicted almost generally for the lower Mississippi valley section for today and tomorrow. Weather bureaus, however, forecast little or no change in temperature throughout the south.

With repair crews at work, the restoration of service in Virginia and North Carolina was proceeding gradually. Few poles were down in North Carolina, according to commercial telegraph and telephone companies but snow and high winds broke many wires. Normal service is expected within the next day or two.

In Virginia Southern railway tracks were cleared of more than 1,400 telegraph poles broken by the storm in that state. While trains still were reported as running late today, they more nearly approached normal schedules than they did yesterday.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP CHARGES OF WRONG DOING

(Associated Press London Wire)
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Grand jury proceedings were begun here today in the case of the two members of Congress referred to in a recent Chicago grand jury report as having improperly accepted money.

Assistant Attorney General Davis, Commonwealth Steamship Line, supplies the story.

Early in 1912, according to Innes, lured by glowing reports from two women who said they had been to Cocos Island, an expedition set out from England in the Melrose, with Captain Innes as chief officer.

The two women said they had actually entered a tunnel on the island leading to a cavern of great depth in which they plainly saw a mammoth image of the Virgin Mary and many other treasures supposed to be on the island.

They told their tale so sweetly, says Innes, and they produced such carefully-drawn plans of the treasure ground, that money poured in to finance an expedition, and the Melrose started.

Then the troubles began. First, one of the crew attempted to scuttle the ship. At Punta Arenas, South America, the cash ran out and the crew mutinied.

After many other minor troubles the expedition eventually arrived at Cocos Island and industriously started to work under the direction of the fair explorers.

SCHOOL MINSTREL MONDAY.

Rehearsals for the minstrel show by the Robt. E. Lee school are progressing very finely. All the parts are full and the show promises to be excellent.

In the "circle" the young girls appear in picturesque costumes, some Scotch, others Japanese, Spanish, Hawaiian and cloven.

The four comedians in black face have plenty of nice clean jokes and witty sayings, and the play "The Fatal Cup," is scheduled for a hit.

The smaller children have especially attractive motion songs, an o' pantomime, "My New Hat," by two first-class graders, will no doubt be pleasing.

The Parent-Teacher Association is preparing a show, which will be given at Rison Park auditorium on Monday night, in aid of the new cafeteria of Robert E. Lee school.

SYDNEY, Australia, Mar. 13.—All amusing story of a fruitless search for the $60,000,000 treasure popularly supposed to be buried on Cocos Island, in the South Pacific Ocean, by the famous buccannere, Morgan and Benito, has been evoked here by reports that an expedition will shortly set out to recover the hoard.

SOUTHERN RY. CO. DECLARES $1.25 DIVIDEND

Announced as Quarterly Payment on Common Stock—Reflects Rapid Growth of Road.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—Directors of the Southern Railway Company declared today an initial dividend of $1.25 on the common stock.

It was officially announced that the purpose of the directors hereafter to give consideration quarterly to the matter of preferred as well as common dividends.

Today's dividend was announced as a quarterly payment on the common stock.

The directors also declared today the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 1/2 per cent. on the preferred stock.

The dividend is the first to be paid on the 1,200,000 common shares since the reorganization of the road in 1904. Beginning in 1927 dividends on the preferred stock have ranged from 1 to 3 per cent. annually.

Meanwhile earnings of the road constantly have been paid back into the property, putting it up to the sixth largest railroad system in the United States. Soon after 1900, a program of expansion was undertaken, which carried its lines into every important section of the South with the exception of Florida.

Capital expenditures on the property since 1906 alone, according to Fairfax Harrison, president of the company, have totaled $145,000,000. In addition to more than $50,000,000 derived from surplus earnings. In the three years before government control and since that time, the Southern Railway has carried to surplus about $32 for each share of common stock. Its surplus from 1922 operations was $7,323,797.

The steady growth in earning power of the road, which showed a gain of more than $6,000,000 in gross income to $24,956,246 in 1922, has repeatedly led to expectations of a common dividend declaration. In view of a surplus per share larger than many dividend-paying roads, inauguration of dividends was anticipated last fall but action was deferred until complete figures on 1923 operations were available.

China and Russia Negotiating to End Controversy

(By The Associated Press.)

PEKING, Mar. 13.—The chief controversy to be adjusted in the present negotiations between China and Soviet Russia concerns the status of the Chinese Eastern Railway, Russia, it is said, is willing to relinquish sovereignty over the right of way of this important channel of communication but desires a share of the roads management.

The other outstanding questions to be solved involve Russian evacuation of Mongolia, relinquishment of any share in the Boxer indemnity payment from China and relinquishment of extra-territoriality for Russian nationals in China, trade agreements, delineation of the frontiers in which both nations are interested and some regulation regarding navigation of the Sungari River, an important stream emptying into the Amur above Khabarovsk and flowing across Manchuria.

It is expected that some at least of these would be left for adjustment by commissions after China had accorded Russia recognition.

Mrs. G. Bowman Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"About two years ago my hands and arms broke out with little, red pimples that were very sore. They itched badly, causing me to scratch and irritate the affected parts so that I could not stand my sleeves to touch my arms. I could not put my hands in water and was unable to do my regular work for about two weeks."

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in two or three days I could see an improvement. I purchased more and in three weeks I was completely healed."

(Signed) Mrs. Gladys Bowman, R. 4, Box 35, Johnson City, Tenn.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum helps to prevent skin troubles.

Beth Sholem Temple was the scene of a beautiful wedding last night which was solemnized in the presence of a large assemblage of Danville people and many relatives and friends from other cities, when Miss Rose Lucille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Herman, of this city, was given in marriage to Ralph Wallerstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wallerstein, of Richmond. Dr. Edward N. Calisch, of Richmond, was the celebrant.

The temple was a scene of tropical beauty, having been elaborately and artistically decorated throughout with palms, Southern Smilax and roses. The altar-placed and arched were covered with delicate green tracery, among which white roses and palms rose to form a background behind the ivory gates which separated the altar space and the semi-circle of the chancel where the bride and groom were grouped. White candles gleamed from the altar and from floral brackets which hung from the side walls and balcony, which also was wreathed in smilax, shed a soft radiance over the whole scene. Music low and vibrant filled the air as Sam Sours, organist, played selections appropriate to the occasion. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Lawrence O. Crumpler, a life-long friend of the bride, sang, "Ich Liebe Dich," by Gries, and "Mon Cœur S'ouvre à Ta Voix," by Saint Saens, with organ accompaniment. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the processional, changing to the strains of Lohengrin as the bride appeared. The bride's only attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Harry Calisch, of Richmond, and Mrs. Allan Herman of Danville.

Mrs. Calisch wore a gown of orange colored chiffon with bouquet of Ophelia roses and lavender sweet peas, from which hung long streamers of lavender ribbon. Mrs. Herman's costume was of maize chiffon and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and blue lace-flower, with streamers of blue ribbons.

The groomsmen were Allan and Milton Herman, brothers of the bride. The ushers were William Erbbaum, of New York; Morton Thalheimer, of Richmond; Herbert Hoffman and Louis L. Kaufman of this city. The bride, a picture of petite loveliness and charming grace in her lustrous gown of ivory satin, trimmed with point lace, seed pearls and crystals, carried a bouquet of white roses frilled and showered with lilies of the valley. She wore a coronet of real lace and orange blossoms from which a veil of tulle hung in flowing folds to form a train.

As the bride entered on the arm of her in marriage, the groom and his best man, Lester Wallerstein, of Richmond, entered simultaneously from the side aisle and met them at the altar. After the ceremony which was beautiful in its simplicity and solemnity, the bride and groom and their attendants entered cars which conveyed them to the country club where a brilliant reception was given by the bride's parents.

The large club rooms were brilliant with flowers and many gleaming lights which illuminated the warm coloring of the rich costumes worn by the guests. In the living room the mantle was banked with white roses, ferns and lilies of the valley while over window and door spaces Southern Smilax formed natural wreaths. Tall palms were grouped in the background and about the punch bowl which stood near the south end of the long room.

In the dining room the mantle was covered with smilax which trailed gracefully to the floor and above the greenery great bunches of New Commonwealth roses and jonquils gave the keynote of the exquisite combination of pink and yellow which was carried out in table decorations and refreshments. The centerpiece which rested on a cloth of old lace, was a masterpiece of the decorator's art in creating an effect of nature's skill in color combination. Three large sponges in the form of baskets fastened together on a blue background were filled with Pilgrim roses, white sweetpeas, Persian lilac and mignonne which grew out of green mosses.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. L. Herman, the latter wearing a gown of warm grey chiffon with corsage of violets; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wallerstein, Mr. and Mrs. David Wallerstein, of Richmond, parents of the groom, Mrs. Wallerstein wearing corsage of violets and gown of lace; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Calisch, Dr. Edward N. Calisch and other members of the bridal party.

Mrs. G. Frank and Mrs. Josephine Herman received the guests at the front door and Mrs. Julius Kaufman introduced them to those in the receiving line.

Among those who assisted in the dining room were Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Crumpler, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoffman, Dr. and Mrs. N. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. George Geoghegan, Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank, Miss Katie Green Guerrant, Miss Trauman, of Richmond; Mrs. B. H. Herman, of Indianapolis.

Many guests called during the hours between 9 and 11 o'clock and many were the expressions of sincere good wishes expressed for the happy young couple who later left to spend their honeymoon in Florida.

The bride has been greatly loved by a large circle of friends in her home town, who have known her as a sweet, gentle, sweet grace of mind and heart. She is a graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, of Lynchburg, where she finished the full course with distinction and since which time she has unselfishly given the strength of her fine abilities to assist in every activity which was for the benefit of the community. During the World War she volunteered her services as a nurse and was in training at Camp Meade during the terrible influenza epidemic of 1918, and continued serving for several months after the close of the war. The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wallerstein, of Richmond, and is connected with the firm of Wallerstein and Company, commission merchants of that city.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the week was the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Miss Anita Williams, at which Mrs. C. Williams and Mrs. J. Giles were joint hostesses.

The beautiful country home near Yanceyville was artistically decorated for the occasion with trailing cedar and ferns. There was dancing and many old-fashioned games were played after which delightful refreshments were served. Those enjoying the hospitality of the hostesses were Misses Lennie Taylor, Blanch Pinchback, Helen Taylor, Florence Foster, Mary Foster, Clyde Allison, Margaret Allison, Ruth Cheek, Myrtle Goodson, Edna Goodson, Messrs. Gene Goodson, Harold Foster, John Bradner, Vann Moore, Moffitt Moore, Claire Taylor, Hansford Bradner, Graham Page, Talbot Chandler, Delmas Chandler.

Old Maids Convention Scores Success.
The presentation of "The Old Maids' Convention," a humorous one-act play, which was given last Tuesday evening at Asor School, by the members of the Parent-Teachers Association, scored a great success.

Owing to severe weather conditions many were prevented from attending, who would otherwise have been present, but those who were present unanimously expressed the wish to see the play repeated at an early date. It could be difficult to select from the group of players those who started because all did well and as usual with amateur performances, it is hard to judge from a critical standpoint. The cast was composed of the following:

Misses: Josephine Swanson, Arline Newbill, Gladys Motley, Alma Nall, Elsie Crawford, Dovie Green, Sadie Harvey, Frances Ingram, Nellie Richie, Helen Sides, Evelyn Collins, Gladys Collins, Annie Nelson; Messdames: G. W. R. Brockmorton, W. L. Smith, S. O. Ingram, Edward Harris, Nolan Cole, Philip Carter, W. E. Alderson, L. W. Tanner, Herman Link, W. W. Alderson, Messrs. L. D. Clark, George Anderson, Major Green.

Costumes were exceptionally attractive, many of them being priceless heirlooms of preceding generations. The Parent-Teachers Association realized a considerable sum from the sale of tickets, all of which will be used for school improvements.

History of Richmond Reviewed by Mrs. Kaufman.
The members of the Wednesday Club were delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Louis L. Kaufman, who gave a review of "My Newton Standard's" Richmond: Her Story and Her People." Beginning with the story as it is given by Mrs. Stannard, dating from four weeks after the arrival of the English settlers at Jamestown, Mrs. Kaufman gave a sketch of the history of Old Richmond, touching the high lights and presenting them so graphically, as to stir tender memories in the hearts of many of her hearers whose own lives have been closely associated with the people of whom the author has written.

In closing Mrs. Kaufman read one of her own poems which was inspired by her study of the history of those days, so sacred and so full of inspiration to all Virginians who claim the kinship of birth and also to those who have made the Mother state theirs by adoption.

The Mother State.
Old Richmond—words to conjure up From out a wizard's magic cup
A portion of such little brew That makes us strive with strength anew.

The strong, set faces of our sires, Alive and dreams and new desires, From heart and home and country, too, These make the hearts of me and you Beat faster and give renewed praise For Richmond, of Y. Olden days.

Old memories of heroic deeds Gladden the heart that yet still bleeds: St. John's Church, on its green clad hill, Can cause our blood to tingle still.

The days from sixty-one to five We live again—again we strive With that dear army, clad in gray, With them we dream, and fight and pray.

Ever yet, our hear-strings answering strain To those we love, though not in vain: To the drums of bitterness we drink, In reconstruction—'ain should shrink.

From its ugly scars and the wounds of war That healing time found solace for And turn with faith and trust and love To Stars and Stripes that float above.

New Richmond—and again we pray For the victim of the far-off day When men like Henry and like Lee Gave their best for you and me.

Virginians boast—so people say—Of having always led the way: Send them—her best is understood—ground—There lies her greatness and renown.

God of our country and our sires Send men with vision that inspires To greater deeds and nobler heights The Progeny of these beacon lights.

May we cling to the past, through memories dead Urged by them, press onward and know no fear, 'Till we, in truth, may proudly say "Virginia, Leads!" not "She led the way."

Program of Music Enjoyed by Club Members.
There was a large and enthusiastic attendance at the regular meeting of the Music Study Club Tuesday evening when they held the regular bi-monthly meeting at Memorial Mansion.

Mrs. W. W. Ayres, chairman of the evening, had arranged a most delightful program, the subject being: "Early Italian Opera." The first number of the program, and one which was very instructive as well as pleasing was the talk given by Mrs. Harrison Robertson on "Early Italian Opera."

There were several ensemble numbers here, great pleasure being taken in the singing of Miss Louise Paulson's violin ensemble with fine tone and good spirit, a number of airs from the Opera of Bellini Donizetti Rossini. Mrs. Laura Janice Fussell sang in fine voice with

Says Old Lovers Are Best

Do You Agree?

Mrs. Sanger says:
"An older man has learned what a precious thing affection is. You couldn't take a plant and poke at it, bruise it, cut it and tramp on it and expect it to live. And yet that is what young married people are doing continually with each other's affections."

MRS. MARGARET SANGER, NOTED BIRTH CONTRIL ADVOCATE, WHO RECENTLY MARRIED J. NIAH SLEE, 62.

NEW YORK, Mar. 13.—Older men make the best lovers.

So says Margaret Sanger, noted advocate of birth control. News of her marriage to J. Niah Slee, 62-year-old millionaire, leaked out the other day.

The two were married in 1922, following Mrs. Sanger's return from her world tour in the interests of birth control. It had taken just a year and a half of eloquent pleading on the part of the elderly millionaire to convince her that she could take up the responsibilities of married life again as well as run a "cause."

But, finally, Mrs. Sanger did say "yes" and now the portrait of a good-looking, gray-haired man adorns her desk.

"Second marriages are happiest," she says, "and older men make the best lovers. If you were hunting someone to manage a business would not you want someone with experience?"

"American sentiment has always extolled the young love which promises to last forever and forever. But love is a growth and a succession of experiences. It is just as foolish to promise to live forever as to promise to love forever."

"A man who has given his early years to building up a career is hungry for romance. Every woman is hungry for romance—far more than any man suspects. There is more chance of her having this hunger satisfied by an older man than by a younger man."

"An older man has experience back of him. A young man has only hot ideals to guide him. He suffers disillusionment when he gets another person within four walls and sees that she isn't behaving according to any of the rules."

WOMEN ARE MORE CAREFUL THAN MEN IN DRIVING AUTOMOBILES

By L. C. OWEN.
SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 13.—The appellation of "fool women" long applied to that class of femininity which drives motor cars, no longer holds good. The women folk all along have had only more worlds—including the feminine prerogative of the last one to back up their arguments. So that the male of the species has gone about his noisy way, refusing to believe.

Now comes official attestation in the shape of mortuary reports of the corner of this city that women are more careful and therefore more capable automobile drivers than are men. Dr. T. W. E. Leland is the public official who comes forward with indubitable proofs that insofar as the fair sex and the operation of gas buggies is concerned, they no longer are more deadly than the male—that the "fool women" appellation is an unfair and undeserved libel.

For the last three years, Coroner Leland has been keeping a careful check upon the cause of all fatal automobile accidents in San Francisco.

dramatic feeling and artistic finish, selections from Handel's "Rinaldo." Those who took part in the program included: Mrs. E. E. Putnam, Miss Elizabeth Burt and Miss Helen Cannon of Averett College, whose performances are always of high order; Miss Madeline Moore and Mrs. Richard P. Moss, Miss Paulson and five of her pupils, Misses Rosenberg, Aron, Handel, Rapland and Harrison gave selections from "Norman" and "William Tell." Miss Jamieson and Miss Reid, of Randolph-Macon Institute gave the Overture from Romeo and Juliet. As closing numbers, Sam Sours gave several of his own compositions.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM JAMES CONDON TO SALLY ATHERTON

MY DEAR SALLY:

It is just as I told you it would be—the moment you got away from me you would forget all about me. Do you realize that you have been away for over two months and not a word has anyone heard from you? At least I have not heard from you, and as Sam has made no mention of your name to me, I did not feel privileged to ask him if he had heard.

Sam seems to regard me with great suspicion since you left. I sometimes look up and find him glowering at me, and I have an intuition that he is blaming me for your departure. God knows he shouldn't blame me for that, for if I could have done anything to have kept you here, you know that I would have been glad to do so.

Now please don't say "Poor boy!" in that motherly tone of yours. I know when you were here and said it, it always squelched me. Now you are away, and you cannot exercise over me the spell of your voice and the maternal look that you could call up at will into your eyes. We're just man and woman at this minute, Sally Atherton. I'm not a boy any longer, and perhaps I feel your nearness more, although you are hundreds of miles away, than when you were with me.

You're a rather cruel woman, do you know it? You pride yourself upon never allowing your heart to rule your head, and yet you like to feel your power. You like to feel some man is interested in you. Oh, of course I wouldn't have told you this when we were together, for I should have hated to look upon the cool scorn with which you would have favored me. But you must acknowledge that what I'm saying is true.

Sally Atherton, you can no more live without the admiration and devotion of some man about you than you can live without food and drink.

This was the reason you tired of Sam when he, poor chap, allowed the sordidness and care of everyday bread and butter come between him and his love for you.

You're a queer combination, my dear woman. You were really an angel to Sam when he was blind, and yet I could see as his eyes grew stronger that you withdrew within yourself all the time.

You let me love you. Oh yes you did! Don't protest. I'll confess I didn't need much encouragement. You are the kind of a woman that always plagues a man's curiosity, and of course you know, my dear, that curiosity is a man's greatest temper. He can cope with his love and with his passion, but there is something about his curiosity that must be sated.

You are probably asking yourself where I have learned all this. I've learned it from you, my dear. I did not know that I had learned it until you had left me.

I am very lonely, Sally. Surely you might write me just a little note to tell me how you like your new job. Sam will never mention your name. I am sure of it. Unless I hear from you directly, you will be as far away from me as though you had winged your flight to any other planet.

BILL CUTS OFF TWO.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The army bill as reported to the House today would deny further army pay to Colonel John E. Hunt, retired, who was in command of the disciplinary barracks at Fort Jay, N. Y., when Grover Cleveland Bergdoll escaped, and to Major C. C. Cresson, who was the judge advocate of the court martial before which Colonel Hunt was tried and acquitted on charges growing out of the incident.

Why Girls

Are not prettier—why women grow old

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I was a plain girl, but I made myself a famous beauty. I have reached a grandmother's age, but I keep my youthful looks. Countless young girls envy my hair and my complexion. No ordinary beauty helps ever did, or ever will, bring such results to women. I searched the world for the best helps in existence. I spent a fortune to obtain them. To them I owe all that beauty and perennial youth have meant in my career.

Now I have placed those identical helps at your call. To girls they mean multiplied beauty, to women continued youth. I urge you to let them bring to you what they brought to me.

The great mistakes
Millions of women seeking beauty and youth use unscientific helps. Now I bring you the best helps in existence. Clay is a beauty essential. No girl can look her best without it, no woman keep her youth. But not the crude and muddy clays so many still employ. A super-clay has been perfected by 20 years of scientific study. It is white, refined and dainty. It is ten times more effective than the ordinary clays.

I call this my White Youth Clay. Many women, with one use, seem to drop ten years. It brings a rosy, clear complexion. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles. My White Youth Clay will amaze and delight you. I urge you to see what it does. The cost is 50c and $1.

Scientific creams
Women use creams which no great expert in the world could sanction. I made a world-wide search to get the best creams in existence.

One is my Youth Cream—a cold cream. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to soften, feed and foster the skin texture.

I use it after the clay. Also as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder. But never is my skin without it. I want you to learn what Youth Cream means to you. It costs only 50 cents.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I found in France. Great beauty experts the world over now employ it. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. But it cleans to the depths, and removes from the skin all the dirt and refuse which nothing else can reach.

You will know for the first time what a clean skin means when you apply my Facial Youth. The cost is 75 cents.

Hair you marvel at
Millions marvel at my luxuriant hair. It is thick and lustrous—fine far than 40 years ago. Falling hair, dandruff and gray hair have never come to me.

This is also due to France. She perfected my Hair Youth. I apply it daily with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. It does not muss the hair. It cleans the scalp, stimulates and fertilizes. Then the hair roots flourish and bring the results I show.

If you wish like hair, use this method—the best that science knows. My Hair Youth costs 50c and $1 with eye dropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply these preparations. Nothing else in all the world can bring you like results. Go try them. Let them bring you what they brought to me. Edna Wallace Hopper, 324 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

Colonel Holles, soldier and adventurer, returns to England, his native land, where he meets with Sylvia, the Grace of Buckingham, who tries to seduce him. Abruptly then he sat forward, and, catching up the quill again, he wrote a few lines on the foot of the letter.

When on the following morning anxious Mrs. Dalloway entered the dining-room in fearful fear of her charge, she found her there, at once to her infinite relief and infinite distress. Nancy sat on the faded sofa, her eyes red, her hands white, and the very relation of the

Out of concern for her charge, Mrs. Dalloway at once dispatched the watchman for Dr. Behish, and when the physician arrived some little while later, she said to him:

Next he drew forth his still well-worn purse, and emptied its contents upon the table. One-half he replaced; of the other he made two packets, addressing one to Dr. Beamish and the other to Mrs. Dalloway.

softly then he pushed back his hair, and rose. He elipted to the window, and peered down into the shadows where the watchman kept his post, propped in a corner of the ill-docked doorway. A sound of snoring came to inform Holles that, as

She told him, adding that upon arrival there she would determine her future movements.

Hollies went back. He took up his hat and cloak. Then, acting upon a sudden thought, he sought his baldric, and to the empty scabbard that was attached to it he fitted the slender rapier that Buckingham had left behind him.

Having passed the baldrick over his head and settled it on his shoulder, he blew out the candles, and a moment later he was at the window again.

EXPERTS CERTAIN THAT THEIR PLAN WILL BE ACCEPTED

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
PARIS, March 11.—The Tribune is informed tonight that the experts' committee has complete assurance that their plans will be accepted by the allies and Germany.
Although certain opposition is aroused by the foreign control over the German budget, finance, and railways, the Tribune understands that this is merely to gain time while the various governments prepare public opinion for the sacrifices and concessions which must be made by all sides in the compromise plan.
The experts take the viewpoint that the "control" committee, which will supervise the German budget, finance, and railways will be as favorable to Germany as to France. The creditors are entitled to take precautionary measures against default, and the debtor must be glad to have an impartial audit of his resources as there will not be any danger of suffering any ill advised or hasty measures from the hot headed creditor, who believed himself being defrauded.

The Well-Dressed Man

All dressed up for a wedding—and nobody to marry.
That is the plight of Steve Hannagan, Nea Service and The Bee staff writer, as he appears in the last of his well-dressed man outfits.
The morning coat formal suit is the only correct dress for a wedding, funeral or formal day affairs.
The coat and vest of dark Oxford-gray material bound with a braid and the trousers of striped worsted may be had for $30 and up.

The high formal hat is $13.
The shirt is zephyr weight, with wide-pleated front, buttoned or fastened with studs, double French laced collar, and a result of a galaxy of new names may glitter along Broadway.
Briefly, the positions of the contending factions follow:
The ACTORS' EQUITY announced an Equity or closed shop. This is merely a lever on which negotiations might start. Should it go through, however, it would mean no member of the Equity could work in a Broadway theatre.
The EQUITY GROUP OF PRODUCERS says the Equity demands are impossible and cannot be met. Says it will fight to finish the group is ready to include the following: A. L. Branger, David Belasco, George B. Cohan, Charles Dillingham, Flo Ziegfeld, Sam H. Harris, John Golden, William A. Brady, Arthur Hopkins, William Van Meter, and others.
The OTHER GROUP OF PRODUCERS says it will make a separate peace with Equity, and that it will not close under any circumstances.
It will be remembered that during the actors' strike a few weeks ago, several producers, notably George M. Cohan, announced they would quit producing entirely rather than give in to the Equity, but that they finally bowed to the demands of the players.

NO FOUNDATION FOR MUSGROVE CHARGES SAYS C. C. CARLIN

(By The Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.—Senator Underwood's victory in the Alabama, presidential primary yesterday in which he led his nearest opponent, L. B. Musgrove by more than 25,000 votes will have an important effect upon his candidacy in other southern states, in the opinion of C. C. Carlin, former Virginia congressman and now general manager of the Underwood campaign.
"Mr. Underwood's big majority in Alabama's answer to the statements that his home state would not support him for the presidency," Mr. Carlin said here today. "I am not definitely informed as to the nature of the charges made by Mr. Musgrove as to fraud in Mobile and other counties, but I would say they have no more foundation than other charges made by him during the campaign. Mr. Underwood's victory was won in spite of the opposition of the Ku Klux Klan. They fought him and they went down to defeat along with Musgrove."
L. B. Musgrove opposed the senator in the primary.

MUSGROVE CHARGES FRAUD IN PRIMARY

(By The Associated Press.)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 12.—An aftermath to Alabama's presidential primary yesterday became evident today when L. B. Musgrove, defeated by Senator Underwood by more than 25,000 majority, announced that he would enter a contest with the State Democratic Executive Committee. This committee meets in Birmingham March 19 to canvass the returns.
"The fight is just begun. Musgrove said following a conference with his campaign managers here today.
He charged that "outrageous fraud" was practiced especially in Mobile and Dallas counties where the anti-4000 majority was overwhelming.
Alfred A. Tunstall, state campaign manager for Underwood, branded the charges of fraud as "false and misleading."
"I don't believe there will be any 'gins,'" he said. "There are no grounds for such a move."
Matt H. Murphy, chairman of the Jefferson county Underwood committee, declared there is nothing Musgrove can do to take "Senator Underwood's sweeping victory away from him."

2. LION
3. LION
4. LION
5. LION
In the word "wolf", there are two letters (a and b) which appear in the word "lion". By changing one letter in the word "wolf" a new word will be formed in step 2. By changing another letter, the word "lion" may be obtained. It is permissible to change the arrangement of order of the letters in each case.
In the same way, "lion" may be altered to "lion", with only one change in between. Can you supply the words needed for steps 3 and 4?
Yesterday's answer:
GOING
The missing letter in the Chinese character "O" is "G". It is pronounced "GOOD OILING". The Chinese man's reason for omitting the letter "O" was simple enough. His knowledge of the English alphabet was practically nil, and he knew from figuring that zero (0) meant nothing. Therefore, he decided that it was not necessary in the sign, and so eliminated it.

LIVELY TALE OF LAST TRIP OF A RUM SCHOONER

(By PAUL WILLIAMS, Chicago Tribune Service.)
LONDON, March 11.—Another London among British Knights of the Rum Main "bootleggers to His Excellency," the Right Hon. Uncle Sam, was aired in a London court today.
The last voyage of the schooner Mary Elizabeth brought pained astonishment to the face of Justice Evans who was an odd picture in his wig and silk gown similar to those which judges wore two centuries ago, when they leaved and hung pirates for less.
Long nights of waiting aboard a darkened ship off Rum Row, a dispute over the spoils, mutiny and attempted murder formed chapters in the story which was revealed by learned counsel and the legal verbiage of the story told seemed rather to add than to subtract from the interest of the melodrama.
Upon the docket this yarn was entitled "The Spike Trading Company v. James Campbell in a suit to recover $2,500 and the proceeds from the sale of 2,037 cases of whiskey." The company claims that it contracted with Campbell Benjamin Franklin the Tudor Investment Company and E. J. Douglas and Company to ship a boat load of whiskey to St. Pierre, N. F., where customers were waiting to take delivery at the port.
The schooner Mary Elizabeth was loaded but Campbell decided not to sail her over. He placed Campbell Horskwill in charge and went to Canada on a passenger steamer. The Mary Elizabeth arrived at St. Pierre of September 3, 1922, and discharged 2,000 cases of whiskey at $10 a case. Campbell then ordered the schooner to proceed to a point off the coast of the United States where the balance of the vessels cargo was unloaded. The ship was then ordered back to St. Pierre.
Campbell did not return with her but entered the United States without a passport. From New York he sent the shippers $43,000. Campbell asserts that his contract was not binding because it constituted a conspiracy and was void as to life and limb, with a view to profit, violate the prohibition laws of the United States. He said that the crew was drunk, mutinous and engaged in thieving. He asserted that at times blood was spilled and in the criminal court at Halifax the captain and mate charged some members of the crew with attempted murder.
Campbell states that during this bootlegging enterprise money often passed without proper check or voucher, some times for sale, and sometimes for bribes and counter bribes. While in New York and other American cities he says he had to protect himself from robbery by bootleggers who tried to blackmail him out of the tens of thousands of dollars which they had paid for the whiskey.

However, comma

By Maurice Honle

NEW YORK, March 13.—There will be no actors' strike this summer. The 100-day act set aside for a showdown between players and producers, is weeks away, and the desire for a friendly settlement of differences is so obvious as to make a compromise agreement almost a certainty.
However, should there come a walkout, members of the Actors' Equity Association—the technical name for the "players' union"—the Democratic National Convention will be the only "show" in town when June comes smiling round.
Trained observers confidently predict a compromise. The last strike cost actors and producers heavily. The only reason to believe a strike possible is that such a strike in the summer would do both sides far less damage than at any other time in the year.
A compromise agreement, judging from present indications, probably will assume the form of an "80 per cent. Equity shop." This would mean 80 per cent of all companies shall be Equity members and the remaining 20 per cent, being required to pay a sum equal to that paid by Equity members as dues. This money would go to the Actors' Fund or some other theatrical charity.
Equity does not want non-Equity players to get the benefit of "union" conditions without having to pay for them.
One thing is certain—if the strike comes, a great impetus will be given the "little theater" movement. Trained players will drift into the independent houses throughout the country and as a result a galaxy of new names may glitter along Broadway.

Briefly, the positions of the contending factions follow:
The ACTORS' EQUITY announced an Equity or closed shop. This is merely a lever on which negotiations might start. Should it go through, however, it would mean no member of the Equity could work in a Broadway theatre.
The EQUITY GROUP OF PRODUCERS says the Equity demands are impossible and cannot be met. Says it will fight to finish the group is ready to include the following: A. L. Branger, David Belasco, George B. Cohan, Charles Dillingham, Flo Ziegfeld, Sam H. Harris, John Golden, William A. Brady, Arthur Hopkins, William Van Meter, and others.
The OTHER GROUP OF PRODUCERS says it will make a separate peace with Equity, and that it will not close under any circumstances.
It will be remembered that during the actors' strike a few weeks ago, several producers, notably George M. Cohan, announced they would quit producing entirely rather than give in to the Equity, but that they finally bowed to the demands of the players.

A strike vote of 1200 Equity members recently revealed the unity of thought of actors. Only two persons—Winifred Lenihan and Richard Bennett—voted against the terms of the Equity leaders. But these two agreed to quit work if a walk-out occurs.
There is no denying the actors' cause was materially strengthened when the Shuberts, who control or own about 70 per cent of the theaters in New York, swung over to their side. If a compromise agreement can be made with the Shuberts it means there will be no strike.
Another triumph came for the actors, which practically assured them victory from the start when they split the Producing Managers' Association into two factions. This breach probably will result in the actors' triumph for the actors came when union stage hands voted to back up the players, and strike also, also, if necessary.
The actors have many personal celebrities with them including Laurette Taylor, Jane Cowl, Elsie Ferguson, Ethel Barrymore, Anne Nichols, Eddie Cantor, George Arliss and, of course, John Emerson, the president of the Equity Association.

If the strike comes, it will affect not only New York, but many other cities as well. Belasco will close his road companies, and threats are heard by theater producers favoring a finish fight, along the same lines.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water
When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating food which is too rich, or you may have a cold, or you may have a urinary tract infection. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scales and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.
Either remedy a good reliable plan at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then be fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year—adv.

Back On Stage as a Candidate

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Mar. 12.—Effie Cherry, 35 years ago one of America's best known vaudeville stars, has returned to the footlights.
Her act then was considered so bad it was a riot. It packed the house.
But her act has changed. She's quit the old sentimental songs and made impersonations for a little political wit—all her own—entitled "Why I should Be Mayor."
Here in Cedar Rapids, where she and her sisters, Addie, and Jessie started on the road to fame amid a shower of over-ripe vegetables and corks some 30 years ago, she is making her second debut.

No Eggs Now
Again she is the headliner on the Majestic Theater bills.
Her audiences, thought, are different than they used to be. The old cheesecloth drop which once shielded the famous Cherry Sisters from the bouquets sent down from "nigger heaven," is missing now. Today the crowds leave their "flowers" at home. The boys and girls of Effie's heyday are considerably older now.
"They ought to be home by 9 o'clock," Candidate Effie insists. "And they will be if I'm made mayor. I'm going to start a curfew law."

Clemens Her Promise
"I'm going to clean up the city and see that the residence districts are patrolled. The traffic cops will have their stations switched and the wheels to be municipal parking stations."
And I'm going to see that folks get pure drinking water instead of rediffused rubbing alcohol and Iowa's rotten corn whiskey.
Furthermore, I'm going to put women on the police force. It's time we had them there.
"This town needs a thorough scrubbing. And it's going to get it. If I'm anything to say."
"Ta-Ra-Ra-Rah Boom de-av"
"Cherry Sisters have come to stay."
Sister Addie Helps
This old-time deft, which Effie and her sisters, Addie and Jessie, made so much of in their early days, is still there. ALAKI IN SOAP BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.
The best thing for steady use is Multisided Coconut Oil Shampoo which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.
Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse your hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.
You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at any drug store; it is inexpensive and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months—adv.

OLD PIEDMONT PLAYERS ARE SCATTERED IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY

Review of Players of Former Years and Where They Are Now Playing—Are Scattered Over Nation From Coast to Coast.

The Piedmont League will have many new players on every club this year, as many of the stars of last year will this season be with clubs of higher class leagues. It will doubtless interest the fans to know with which clubs their old favorites will play.

Pitcher Braxton Gibson, of last year's Danville club, is in training with the Detroit American League club. The critics agree that his work is very promising, but as last year was his first in professional ball he hardly has the experience to hold his own in the major league and that he will probably be placed with a club in one of the "big minor leagues."

Pitchers Dudley, of Raleigh, and Moon, of Greensboro, are well spoken of, but are also lacking in experience as they have had but one year of professional ball and will likely be farmed out to gain the necessary experience. Manager Griffith is said to be thinking of trying Dudley out as an infielder as he is a very good hitter. Carr Smith, of Raleigh, is also with Washington and is very likely to stick, as that club is badly in need of an outfielder who bats right handed. Every body knows that Smith can sure hit the ball.

Winston-Salem did not send any body to the big leagues last year, but was represented in the Class A in the International League. Rabbit Whitman, who reported to the Newark club during the season last year, played good ball and no doubt will be better to year. Outfielder Clark, who reported to Baltimore, and Shortstop Faber to Jersey City. It is very doubtful if they can make good in that classification.

In the Class A Southern League, Floyd Trexler, Cy Twombly and Dave Cochlin will be with Birmingham. Pitchers Friday and Reil, of Raleigh, will also be in this league. Friday with Nashville and Reil with Memphis. If given the proper chance all of them should make good. Freddie Dorman, who was with the Danville club last year, will start with the Danville club in the Class A Texas League. He will have to compete with several high class players for the shortstop position on that club.

Catcher Gus Thompson, of High Point, Pitcher Jimmy Rodgers will be with Scranton of the New York and Pennsylvania League. Class B. They have the ability to make good in that class, especially Thompson, who showed considerable promise last year.

Umpires Joe Lohr and Bill Clark, formerly of the Piedmont will work in that league. Jim Conley, of Greensboro, and Second Baseman Sullivan, will represent the Piedmont in the Virginia League. Conley at Petersburg and Sullivan at Portsmouth. They should make more than hold their own in class B ball. Outfielder Shor and Pitcher Jackson, of Greensboro, will start with Charlotte of the Class B Sally League. Pitcher Padgett, last year with High Point, will be with Danville, Ill., of the class B Three I League. Former players of the Piedmont who will play in that league are Shorty Baker, with Evansville, Bill Briebe and Catcher Minnesota, with Bloomington and Outfielder Floyd, of Raleigh, with Terre Haute. Shaner who was sold by Danville to Cleveland at the beginning of last year has been sold by that club to Decatur.

It is probably a record for a class C League to send up so many men in one year.

Players of former years are making good in various leagues all over the country. Pitcher Bill Hughes is a star with San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League. Outfielder Munson, of Raleigh, has been for the past two years with Galveston, of the Texas League. Pitcher Lefty Graham, of the Schoolfield Bi-State League club is also with Galveston.

Pitcher Nelson Green, Danville, 1923 is with Brooklyn of the National League. He started with Richmond last year and was sold at the end of the season to Brooklyn and

FOR THE GAMES' SAKE

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—Is there a chance that some country other than the United States may win the 1924 Olympiad? There is. Some think it is not a bad chance, either.

Many persons who are interested in sports insofar as they provide thrilling competition, but are unfamiliar with underlying facts and trends of various sorts, may be surprised to hear this.

As they view it, the United States always has won the track and field games at the Olympics and will continue to do so. Thus, the great handicap placed upon us by the results of the winter sports at Chamonix and defeats that will come in other branches of sport with which we are not very familiar, will be made up and our prestige will remain unimpaired.

Sad to say there is no certainty as to this. The outcome of the winter sports last month gave Norway the amazing total of 134½ points. Nevertheless Norway is not to be regarded as a dangerous customer at Paris. A lot of the points going to make up the big total earned by the Norwegians were won in the ski events in which the northerners excel.

Little Finland with her 76½ points gained at Chamonix, however, will be a real danger because she will come to Paris with a selected band of forty athletes, a number which includes all the specialists who in the 1920 Olympiad gathered as many first places as the American team gathered 20-vit, nine.

It is quite possible that Finland might next summer win the honor of excelling the United States in the number of first places and if the competition with Great Britain, France, Italy and Sweden, is as strong as it now seems likely to be the American team might conceivably be obliged to yield first victory to the sturdy Finlanders.

Certainly Finland is going to do a lot of scoring in the distance events and in the field specialties. From distances running upward from 1500 meters, the Finns with the valuable assistance of Willie Ritola, will pile up many points. They even look for something to come out of their recent improvement in relay racing, while in the pentathlon, the discus and the javelin everyone concedes them to be most formidable. Americans will recognize not only Ritola but Hannes Kolehmainen and Villar Kyrö, both of whom ran in this country for several years and perfected their form. They are strong prospects in the marathon, which by the way, Kolehmainen won in 1920.

If we expect to win the Olympics we must win the track and field feature at Colombes. For while we are qualified to capture first places in a lot of sports such as tennis, golf, boxing and so on, our habit of specializing, developing stars at the expense of the general field, puts us in sorry plight as concerns the winning of seconds and thirds. It is here that other nations may beat us despite the efforts of our champions.

Just at present the United States stands in fourth place in the Olympic standing, the result of the winter sports program.

NEW YORK, Mar. 13.—Minor sports such as no leaguer exist at Cornell. They have been merged with the major sport organizations and hereafter there will be no distinction between sports at the Ithaca as to their being of major or minor importance.

Investigation of this action, however, brings to light the fact that it will not produce a change in the sports themselves, unless, indeed, some transformation in the relative status develops among the students. There is a great deal in a name, and in course of time the very absence of the minor designation may affect the undergraduate estimate of some of the sports formerly so classed.

None the less, the change at Cornell is essentially a fiscal one. What will come out of it is uncertain. It would seem that interests on the part of the students and public are chiefly, if not solely, influential in

V. M. I. Schedule Has 14 Games; Begin Practice

LEXINGTON, Va., Mar. 13.—Manager G. H. Miller, Jr., has arranged a tentative baseball schedule for V. M. I., calling for 14 games including trips to Charlottesville, Blacksburg, Washington, and College Park, Md. Cornell, Richmond, V. P. I., Johns Hopkins, N. C. State, Roanoke, and Virginia are among the teams that will cross bats with the Cadets in Lexington.

Head Coach Blandy Clarkson will be assisted by Bill Raftery and Al Orth, former big league pitcher and Virginia League umpire, who will coach the V. M. I. hurlers. Irth has been in charge of battery practice since March. Practice so far has consisted of light work in the gymnasium, as greater conditions have permitted the Cadets to get in only two days of outside, limbering up work.

The main problem confronting the coaches is to develop a right hander to replace Frank Page, captain and star moundman of last year's nine, who kept the Cadets consistently in the win column for four years by turning back opposing batters with great frequency and regularity. Sam Nugent and Squat Saunders, both southpaws, are the only fingers on the regular squad, but the coaches hope that in when Cooper or some of the other right handers from last year's reserves will be able to take their regular turns in the box.

Besides the pitchers there are six other letter men as a nucleus for this year's team. Captain Joe Hatchett, at shortstop, Joe Pillow, third baseman, and Ed Ryder and Charlie Barbour, in the outer gardens, will hold down their regular positions. West Faulkner will be shifted from second base to the outfield, and his job in the infield will probably go to Massie or Perry of last year's scrubs. Small Caldwell will come in from the outfield to take the place behind the bat left vacant by Fack, last year's catcher. This leaves only first base without a custodian, and Dietrich, a reserve last year seems to have the call so far.

Maebach prospects seem to be unusually bright, and indications are now that the youngsters will be particularly strong in the box. Several likely looking pitchers have turned out for practice, and the other material plentiful.

The schedule follows:
April 5—Cornell, here.
April 9—University of Richmond, here.

GREENSBORO, March 12.—Deak Lankenau, the demon baseball eater and baseball thrower has debuted as a coach, or at least he has decided to do so. He will assist the boys at Bessemer high in their efforts to grab lots of baseball honors.

Lankenau will have a squad of more than 20 men from which to select his Bessemer bingers and judging from the material left over from last season, ought to produce a winner.

Bessemer's athletic fortunes have picked up wonderfully during the past pair of seasons and those boys are going to give a lot of the so-called big schools trouble a plenty.

Turner Defeats Pinkie Gardner In Magic City

ROANOKE, Va., Mar. 13.—Joe Turner of Washington, took two falls out of three from Pink Gardner of Schenectady, New York, former Union College grappler, in the head-line bout of a wrestling show last night in the City Market auditorium.

Two local preliminaries preceded the final bout and all of the matches were clean and hard fought.

In the first prelim Vernon Smith and Fred Sowerby, of Viscose, wrestled to a fifteen-minute draw.

In the semi-final Aaron Lackey and middleweight, agreed to throw Edward Campbell, a lightweight on fifteen minutes. Campbell won the bout when Lackey failed to toss him.

In Gardner the veteran Turner hooked up with a tough customer and had all that he could handle. The bout was innovation from the other bouts that have been held here recently.

PRETTY DIVORCE JAILED FOR THE MURDER OF WALTER LAW

CHICAGO, March 12.—Mrs. Belle Gaertner, pretty divorcee, is in jail charged by a coroner's jury with killing Walter Law, automobile salesman, found with a bullet through his head in her automobile early yesterday. Recommendation of the jury came after Paul E. Goodman, fellow salesman of Law, testified that Law told him Mrs. Gaertner had threatened his life and had looked him in her flat, with a threat to stab him with a bread knife unless he stayed. The jury decided that Law, five years her junior, married and the father of a baby, came to his death by a bullet fired by Mrs. Gaertner. She did not testify.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calomel, Tablets That Are Neatly Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the use of Calomel tablets, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One of two Calomels at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, and even the active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calomels are sold only in original sealed packages, prices thirty-five cents for the large family package, ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—adv.

Intangibles Are Clearly Defined by Commissioner

Commissioner of the Revenue Pryor G. Ragland and his deputies, have already begun taking the lists of citizens who are required by law to declare under oath their property, both physical and intangible for the purpose of computing tax assessments. This task is becoming increasingly more onerous because of the growth of the city and the constant increase in the number of people required to make returns. Mr. Ragland this morning issued the following statement stressing the necessity of intangibles being properly listed and being on other phases of making tax returns.
"Now that the time for listing property for taxation has come there are a few points which it is quite timely and proper to bring to the attention of taxpayers, particularly the law with regard to listing intangible property. As the average tax payer does not pay much attention to the study of tax laws it might be in place to define some of the terms in the terms 'tangible' and 'intangible' property. Intangible property is a written instrument such as a share, a bond, a certificate of deposit, a note or an account, which merely represents, and certifies the ownership of property, while the term 'tangible' means the actual physical property itself."

"Notes and bonds secured by mortgages are tangible property, but are listed by tax payers in making up their list. All notes, mortgages, accounts, and all other solvent claims should be listed. Many tax payers are of the opinion that a note or bond is a hypothetical claim and that the note should not be listed. This is a very serious error on the part of the tax payer for the reason that the act of hypothecation does not destroy the right to the property, but the ownership of the note but the ownership of the note still legally remains with the borrower. The statutes are very plain and the penalty severe for failure to list taxable property. It is a severe fact that a note is uncollectible under foreclosure proceedings unless the owner shows that same has been properly listed for taxation."

Another class of intangible property commonly overlooked by tax payers is shares of stock in corporations. Under the Virginia law the shares of all corporations except those operated under Virginia charters are taxable unless all the capital of such corporations is properly taxed as provided by law, and all shares of corporation which are not operating under the Virginia law are taxable to the holder whether they are bought out right and hypothecated or merely bought on margin.
"In calling the attention of tax payers to these matters, we have the main object in view to show tax payers just what the law requires, and to improve the past splendid record made by Danville tax payers in listing their property."

During the session of the legislature just ended there was a great deal said about the inequality of assessment as between localities. Some members going so far as to say that unequal taxation was the cause of the matter in their own hands, and protect themselves in making up their own tax list. This is one way of curing a bad situation, but it will cost because in using this remedy he sacrifices the moral element the foundation on which all his civic virtues rest."

Three Boys Are Held as Result of Train Shooting

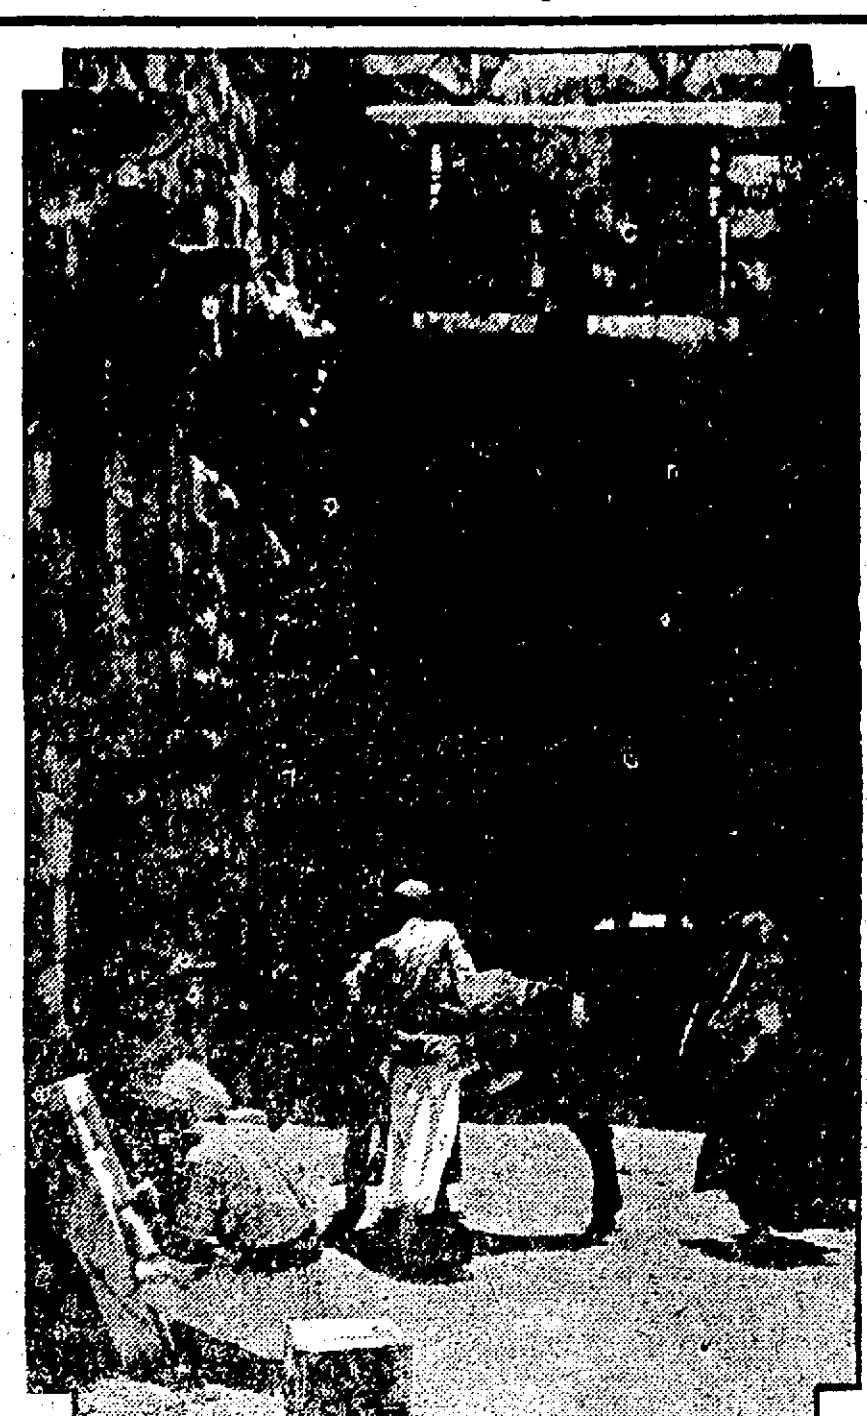

WENTWORTH, N. C., March 12.—Charles Parrish, Troy Kendrick and Arthur Turner, young men who were with Furman Bellow when the latter was shot and killed on Southern freight train near Benja Sunday afternoon, were Wednesday brought to the county jail here by Deputy H. C. Stallings of Rockingham. The three were taken to Rockingham county under warrants charging them with the murder of Furman Bellow.

Deputy Stallings, who secured the warrants, stated that the charges are formal and that the boys will be held for investigation. A preliminary hearing will be held within the next few days, he said. Deputy Stallings, who is investigating the matter, has been looking for the negroes who are supposed to have left the train after the shooting. Trainmen testified at the hearing given Parrish, Kendrick and Turner, that a negro did leave the train yesterday where he was fined $30 for carrying a concealed weapon, that they saw some negroes on the train.
This has caused officers to believe that the story told by Parrish, Kendrick and Turner, that a negro did leave the shooting, may be true. However, they do not believe that the entire story of the shooting has been told. The investigation is now in the hands of the Rockingham county officers and the Guilford officers will do it to give any assistance possible.

Kenyon to Confer With President Today Over Post

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Coolidge had another engagement today with former Senator Kenyon, one-time leader of the farm bloc and now a member of the United States court for the Eighth Circuit, who has been offered the cabinet place vacated Monday by Secretary Denby.

The appointment was tendered to Judge Kenyon at a long White House conference last night and he is understood to have withheld his answer so that he might consult with friends. Some of his friends have advised him not to accept the naval secretaryship in view of his inclination toward the law and agricultural problems and his satisfaction with his judicial duties, but his presence in the cabinet is known to have been strongly desired by the president.

Tenant Farmers Have Difficulty In Buying Land

(By The Associated Press.)

RALEIGH, N. C., March 12.—Although tenant farmers in the United States in large numbers have succeeded in accumulating funds out of their farm earnings to make initial payments on contracts for the purchase of land, the process has become one of considerable difficulty in many parts of the country, says a report received here from economists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who have studied the condition under which it is possible for tenant farmers to rise to the status of owning farmers. Increases in the valuation of land has been a big factor in helping purchasers to meet their payments. On the other hand, it was pointed out, that such increases may have discouraged many tenants from attempting to buy land, and may have increased the difficulties of purchasers in the early stages of payment.

These conclusions are based on extensive data gathered by the Department of Agriculture.

If tenants are to accumulate enough out of their own earnings to make the initial payment on a farm, they must do so, it was said, by one or more of the following means: (1) Make their earnings a higher than average income; (2) Pay rent on their lands at a rate lower than the prevailing mortgage rate of interest in their neighborhood; (3) Own part or all of their operating capital when they become tenants; (4) Live in modest homes; (5) Keep production costs down by employing members of the family without wages.

Employing family labor without wages, say the economists of the Department, is a possibility of considerable importance to the intending purchaser. Studies of labor contributed by members of farm families show that over a series of years such a family had an average valuation of $211 on a group of 50 farms. This was 21 per cent of the expenses of these farms.

In calculating farm incomes, a deduction is usually made for the unpaid labor of the farm family. It represents a return which is not included in rent, interest in investments, or payment for the services of the farm operator himself. Where the tenant has no unpaid labor from which to increase his margin of return over necessary expenditures, it was explained, he carries an additional handicap in his struggle to become a farmer owner.

Bailou Park Tract Will Be Laid Out and Developed

The budget recently drawn up by the city council and informally approved includes the expenditure of $1,000 on the development of the forty acre tract of land which was conveyed more than a year ago by the Riverside and Dan River Mills tract to the city. It was learned the property already has been fenced in and is a thickly wooded tract with heavy undergrowth in some places. The Public Works Committee would have liked to spend more on this development but decided under the general agreement for strict economy to set aside the sum of $1,000 which will permit the laying out of one of the driveways. The work of development will necessitate the felling of some of the trees and the clearing of the brush. This, however, will be done by the regular park keeper's force and the sum set aside will provide for at least one long driveway.

The committee also plans to spend $2,000 in renovating the present wooden pavilion near the spring. The cost to the city in matting all the city parks is $12,400, the budget shows.

PUT FINISHING TOUCHES ON THE BONUS MEASURE

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The soldier bonus bill providing for paid up 20-year endowment policies was given the finishing touches today by the sub-committee of the House Ways and Means Committee which yesterday agreed on details of the insurance provision. Chairman Green planned to get final action by the whole committee on the measure before tonight and he said he would seek to bring it before the House for a vote Monday.

The insurance policies provided for in the bill are based on $1 for each day of home service and $1.25 a day for overseas service, plus 25 per cent of this total and interest compounded at four per cent for twenty years. The maximum amounts of the policies, under this scheme, would total $10 for veterans who served full time in the United States and $1,900 for those who spent the maximum time overseas.

Cost of the bonus under the plan was estimated at approximately $2,000,000,000, with $50,000,000 the maximum expenditure in any one year. Dependents of the veterans, who have died since the war would be eligible to receive payments on the basis of $1 a day for home and $1.25 a day for overseas service. These payments would be made in ten annual installments. Veterans not entitled to more than $50 would be paid in cash.

Shippers' Fight to End April 15

(By George H. Manning, Washington Correspondent of The Danville Bee.)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—April 15 will signalize the culmination of a long fight Virginia shippers all over the state have been making for removal of the interstate commerce law provisions between Virginia point and points north of the Potomac river. The Interstate Commerce Commission announced the date for the hearing on the matter.

Under the guidance of the Virginia Shippers Association, shippers have been working up information for use at the hearing, and it is said a formidable case has been made out. Delegations of shippers are booked from many of the cities, and an array of counsel has been engaged.

The essential trouble alleged by the Virginia shippers is the so-called "long and short haul" clause. An attorney who is working on the Virginia case uses as illustrating the injustice now incorporated in the rate of shipments from Richmond to Washington, first class 68 cents, whereas shipments from the same point to points north of Washington but south of Baltimore are charged only 55 cents.

Bank Credit In Favor of Bank of France Assured

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 12.—The group of American bankers, headed by J. P. Morgan and Company, which announced yesterday that arrangements had been made for the establishment of a bank credit of not less than $100,000,000 in favor of the bank of France, has received assurances from the French government that it will issue no other loans without having secured the service of the loan by normal budgetary receipts.

Should the credit not be liquidated at maturity in other ways, gold equal in amount to the loan will be shipped to the Morgan firm in New York. This gold security is being held by the bank of France. It is understood that the loan will not run for more than one year.

The group establishing the credit is limited to bankers of New York and neighboring cities. Applications to share in the loan are declared to have largely exceeded the amount required by the French government. Stabilization of the French exchange will be one of the principal uses to which the French government will apply the loan.

MILLION DOLLAR WHISKY THEFT IS SOLVED; TO ASK 14 INDICTMENTS

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, March 12.—The $1,000,000 theft of pre-war whiskey from the government concentration depot at the Sibley warehouse and storage company here has been solved, according to federal authorities, who plan to ask indictments of 14 persons, including three former revenue agents.

Evidence unearthed by the special

Intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau, will be submitted to the grand jury today.

More than 8,000 cases of liquor were successfully smuggled out of the warehouse with forged and raised permits. Operatives assert there was collusion among employees of the concentration depot and persons familiar with the permit sections of the Chicago federal prohibition office.

Taylor Case Still Stands as Reproach to the Republicans

(By George H. Manning, Washington Correspondent of The Danville Bee.)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Virginia's "Dreyfus Case," as the case of George E. Taylor, former postoffice clerk at Richmond, is sometimes called, still stands as a reproach to the Republican administration.

Taylor's case is not that of a military figure, but the essential note of governmental injustice is there, and therein lies the parallel.

Trusted and honorable, for years in the employ of the government; suddenly arrested charged with embezzlement of the insignificant sum of $20; the case thrown out of court by direction of the presiding judge; appeal to the president for executive action, which came in partial form when the honor of the accused man was restored by a White House exoneration in the term of President Harding; and finally appeal to Congress for reimbursement for salary lost by the unjust dismissal of the old employee who could not find other employment. These are the high spots.

Representative Montague, from whose district Taylor comes, has in vain to get action on the bill appropriating $13,793 covering the salary Taylor would have received had he remained in the service and not been unjustly dismissed. The claims committee has obdurate. It will not give a hearing. It has not referred the claim to a sub-committee, which is the first step towards favorable or any other action.

Frankly, the friends of Clerk Taylor are discouraged. Action is apparently as far away as it was last season when the same bill was pigeon holed. Many of the northern papers, some of them republicans, have written up the Taylor case and editorially called for justice.

Snowdrifts Cause Postponement of Funeral In County

Deep snow drifts in the Pittsylvania roads as result of Monday's storm prevented the burial yesterday of Mrs. Joseph E. Thompson, aged 65, who died at her home near Whitesburg on Monday. The funeral was to have been held yesterday but it was found impossible to make the trip to the old family burial ground.

Drifts ten and twenty feet deep have been reported in various parts of the county as result of the high wind driving the snow which fell throughout Monday night. None of the four United States mail carriers who work from Gretna were able to make their rounds on Tuesday. This is the first time in many years that this work was interfered with on account of the snow.

HAVE YOU PAINS? This Advice is For You If Suffering From Rheumatism

Chestertown, Md.—"I suffered four months with a severe case of rheumatism. The doctors continued to do me no good. I was unable to walk, and I was swollen twice their natural size and pained me very severely. I was unable to walk, and was compelled to use crutches after lying in bed three weeks. After using up all my money, I tried Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. From the first dose or so I started improving and am now able to work as before."—Howard Clarke.

Step into any drug store and ask for a package of Anuric, which is many times more potent than lithia. A short trial will convince you. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package, and write for free medical advice.—adv.

"Baby Bandits" Are Rounded Up

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, March 12.—They start young in Chicago. Tony Wilkins, 11, Eugene Kuka, 12, and John Puleps, 19, were arrested today and have confessed many hold-ups and robberies. The guns were no longer "Baby Bandits," but they are "babies" in years only. When taken into custody they were armed with four heavy revolvers, two stiletos and four long-bladed knives, sharpened to a razor edge. Twelve-year-old Eugene proudly proclaimed himself the leader of the gang. The police describe the trio as the most remarkable prisoners they have ever held. Despite the extreme youth of the younger two, they are fully as "hard-boiled" as the older member.

KEARNS TURNS DOWN

3500,000 OFFER FOR A MEETING WITH WILLS

NEW YORK, March 12.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, held New York on the twentieth century limbo for Salt Lake City and the coast and the big fighter had hardly got out of town when his manager, Jack Kearns, turned down an offer $350,000 for Dempsey to meet Harry Wills, the negro champion at Cumberland, R. I., next July 4. Kearns gave the Rhode Island offer scant consideration. The would-be Providence promoters were represented by John Griffin and James J. McGinnity, head of the Rhode Island state veterans of foreign wars. Armen with a certified check for $250,000 as part of the $500,000 offered for Dempsey's end of the proposed bout. Griffin and McGinnity put their groups' proposition and demanded action. Kearns ejected the proposition coldly.

According to the Providence men Kearns said that Dempsey would not fight Wills this year and that the champion was not likely to fight anyone until next September. This letter was denied by Kearns later. The Rhode Island syndicate representatives, Kearns' presence called on Billy McCarney, agent here for Louis Firpo and made a proposition for Firpo to fight Wills at Cumberland, but it is understood that McCarney advised that the Firpo was booked up until August and could not take advantage of the offer. Then it was that the Rhode Islanders, angered, decided to let the public in on the situation. They insisted that Kearns had earlier promised them to have Dempsey fight for them provided they could show real money in advance and guarantee that they could hold the fight. They showed they have the backing, and assert they have obtained a license and can guarantee they will be able to hold the bout.

Kearns, after the conference, admitted he had turned down the offer from Rhode Island and said he did not think the public wanted anything but a return bout between Dempsey and Firpo.

"We will fight before September," said Kearns. "Dempsey has several good offers to make pictures on the coast which probably will take about

"I'd rather not have anything further to say about the offer for a Wills bout."

Harry Wills returned from Hot Springs today and was keenly disappointed over the failure of the latest bid to arrange a match for him with Firpo and also expressed regret that an early bout with Dempsey seemed so improbable. Harry Wills was met by his manager Faddip Mullins, and they announced they would continue after bouts with both Dempsey and Firpo.

RICKARD GOING ON WITH BOUT PLANS

(By the Associated Press.) NEW YORK, March 12.—Despite increasing indications that the proposed return match in the Metropolitan district early in June between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons would be shelved, Tex Rickard declared tonight he would make a definite offer within a few days to Jack Kearns, the champion's manager.

Faced with the statements of Dempsey and Kearns that the title holder's next bout and only 1934 battle probably would be against Louis Firpo in September, Rickard reiterated that he is going ahead with Dempsey-Gibbons plans.

The promoter already has obtained Gibbons' consent to terms. Kearns, however, while admitting that an attractive enough offer would influence him to alter his plans, admitted that he does not expect Dempsey to risk his crown again until around Labor Day. Contracts for motion picture work by Dempsey, which Kearns expects to sign in a few days, would keep the champion busy until July 1, after which he would be ready to start training for a title contest.

Track Practice Begins at V. M. I.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 12.—Track practice at V. M. I. has been under way officially since March 5, though some of the weight men and distance runners have been working outdoors under wraps for the past month. Over 100 candidates, including freshmen, are undergoing preliminary practice at present in the gymnasium.

The schedule as arranged by Manager J. P. Edmondson calls for three home meets and two trips. The Cadets will meet Maryland in a return engagement at College Park to open the season, and will take part in a general meet in May. It has not been decided yet whether this meet will be held by the South Atlantic I. A. A. or the Southern Conference.

Major H. M. Read will be assisted by Captain M. G. Ramey in coaching both the varsity and freshman teams. Major Read will have "Antelous" of eight letter men, headed by Captain Edmondson, of Richmond as holdovers from last year's team. The half mile run is Captain Briggs' specialty, though he will probably be used in the mile also. The Cadets should be strong in the dashes with Charlie Foster and Cherry Watkins. Foster performed the unusual feat last year of running his 100 five consecutive times in 10 flat, and he is equally fast in the 220. Watkins is a broad jumper as well as a sprinter.

Willie Kellogg is V. M. I.'s best bet in the javelin throw and low hurdles, and Leigh Sims should be a sure point winner in the high jump. Smiley Denton is an all-around performer, competing in the weight events and broad jump as well as running the dashes. Burgess, in the 440, and Sanders, in the shot put, are expected to garner points in their events.

Indications are that the Cadets will be strong in the dashes, half mile and field events, but new blood will be needed in the distance runs, high hurdles, and pole vault. A number of last year's second string men are available, however, and prospects for a successful season are on the whole bright.

The schedule follows. April 12, Maryland, College Park, 19. P. I. Lexington, 28. Davidson, here; May 3, Roanoke, here (pending); 9 and 10, South Atlantic or Southern Conference.

left recently, to join Memphis of the Southern Association, with whom he has signed for 1934.

Craft last season started with New Orleans, but was forced to discontinue pitching, owing to arm trouble. He signed later with Memphis, but was permitted to join the Norfolk and Portsmouth Clubs, giving his arm a needed rest. Craft refrained from playing basketball during the winter, taking care of his arm. He believes he will be able to resume mound duty this year.

Fresh Fires In Mine Hamper Work of Rescuers

(By The Associated Press.)
CASTLE GATE, Utah, March 13.—A day and night of fighting fire, the burial of seven victims and the finding of a few additional bodies, is the story of the rescue work in mine No. 2 of the Utah Fuel Company since early Wednesday. At an early hour this morning 130 bodies had been taken out of the mine in which 173 men were entombed Saturday. The recovery work, which had been going on rapidly until about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, was suddenly halted by the appearance of two fires in the mine. The rescuers were forced to give up their search and become fire fighters for the second time since the explosion. Early yesterday evening the two fires which had been causing trouble throughout the day had been extinguished but fresh fires appeared. Because the sprinkling system had been totally destroyed by the blasts, water is being carried to the fire in containers, from temporary water lines laid partly into the mine. Fear that the rescue crews might be cut off by fires led to a search through all the old workings and various areas of minor importance were extinguished.

Will Try at Once to Learn Names of 2 Congressmen

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Inquiry to determine officially the names of the two representatives mentioned in a Chicago grand jury report and the nature of charges against them is to be started immediately by a special house committee.
The committee, headed by Representative Burton, Ohio, Republican, was appointed late yesterday under a resolution by Representative Garrett, the Democratic leader, which reversed the vote of the House Tuesday to leave the investigation of the matter in the hands of the Department of Justice.
Attorney General Daugherty, in refusing last week to disclose the information sought pending study of the case by Department of Justice officials, suggested that he was ready to turn over all evidence now available and suspend the department's inquiry to give House investigators a free hand.

Aroused Over Seizure of the Steamer Orduna

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 13.—Steamship crews have been stirred by the seizure by customs officials of the Royal Mail Line's crack steamer Orduna late yesterday under orders of the Treasury Department, which alleged violation of the customs law, the federal narcotics act and the prohibition law. The seizure was the aftermath of a raid on the vessel Tuesday night when Federal District Attorney Howard and other government officials arrested seven of the crew and confiscated liquor and narcotics valued at $15,000.
Colonel Hayward declared the government would demand a bond of not less than $3,000 for the release of the ship pending future developments.

JAZZ MUSIC IS IN FOR BIG REFORMATION

Common Jazz Will Be Replaced by American Symphonic Syncopation.

By ROBERT T. SMALL.
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
NEW YORK, March 13.—Jazz music is in for the big reformation. The Otto H. Kahn millions—or at least a part of them—are behind the movement. If all goes well the common or garden jazz of today will be replaced by "American symphonic syncopation." Roger Wolff Kahn, youngest son of the famous banker and chairman of the Metropolitan Opera Company has invented the new name for it and he is going to devote his life to the elevation of the saxophone and all its little playmates.

Mr. Kahn, senior, recently forbade his son to play his saxophone in public or to make any public appearances with the Roger Wolff orchestra. But he is both pianist and member. But last night while father Kahn was busy signing a new five-year contract with Guilio Gatti-Casazza as general manager of the greatest opera organization in the world, and while the worst storm in twenty years swept the Metropolitan city, young Kahn made his debut. He not only played with the band at the grill room where it is regularly engaged but he was broadcast over the radio.

It is believed now that young Kahn won his father over because of his high aims for jazz. Mr. Kahn has said before that he was glad his son was taking an interest in music and especially that he was so greatly interested in American music. The youngest is not only a saxophone player—the richest saxophone player in all the world, because Paul Whiteman is a fiddler and can't blow country. He believes that jazz is the best possible medium for educating the musical taste of the people as a whole, because it has caught the fancy of the masses and has a wider following than any type of music yet developed.

Like Paul Whiteman, young Kahn feels that the musical taste can be elevated by bringing the classics into syncopated arrangements. He and his associates have been quietly but energetically working along this line, using the ball room of the Kahn mansion on Fifth avenue as their grapple ground with the old masters.

The results have been quite startling. With the collaboration of the leader of his band, Arthur Lang, young Kahn has arranged one of the most difficult compositions of Rubenstein in a symphonic syncopation. The rhythm which he lent to the fox trot in a most appealing way. He also has taken the storm motif from the William Tell overture and made into a syncopated symphony for the indefatigable dancers of the day.

One of the boldest assaults on the classics has been the arrangement of the Meditation from Thais in fox trot tempo. The meditation air is carried by a violin played by a young graduate of the Vienna musical conservatory. The plunkings of the banjo and the obligato of the saxophones are quite unique. Today Mr. Kahn was working on suites of famous American airs, all of which are to be given the symphonic treatment.

Suspect Gives Up But Denies Part In Duffy Killing

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, March 13.—Dean O'Bannon, sought as a suspect in connection with the slaying of John Duffy and his wife, Mabelle Exley Duffy, surrendered at the State attorney's office last night and denied any knowledge of the killings.
His story was verified later by William Engelke, held as an accessory after the fact of murder, who said O'Bannon was no the man he saw with Duffy in an automobile a few hours before Duffy's body was found in a roadside snowbank.

Engelke yesterday pleaded not guilty to charges of robbery with a gun and accessory after the fact in the murder case. He admitted, police say, that he was with Duffy when the latter killed his wife after a quarrel. Carl Hein, another witness, claims Engelke participated in a payroll robbery, on which the robbery charge is based.

ARTICLE NO. 8.

GARDEN CULTURE

No other plant is more closely identified with the progress of western civilization than the rose. It is at once an insignia of joy, sorrow, love and exquisite beauty. It is the flower that knows no caste. It is loved by rich and poor alike.

Climbing roses are generally propagated by hardwood cuttings. Cut flower roses are grown from hardwood cuttings, and by budding and grafting. They are also grown from seed.

Soil capable of growing good garden or vegetable crops is adapted to roses. The soil should be deep. Likewise it should be adequately prepared to insure good results. Rotted cow manure is the best fertilizer. But any other manure may be used.

Do not place the manure in direct contact with the roots nor immediately beneath the plant in any quantity sufficient to cut off direct connection with subsoil and water supply.

Sandy soils need more frequent applications of manure than heavier soils, as sandy soil buries at the growing end more rapidly. In planting rose bushes, they should be so spaced that they will come together without overcrowding when reaching maturity.

Sandy soils need more frequent applications of manure than heavier soils, as sandy soil buries at the growing end more rapidly. In planting rose bushes, they should be so spaced that they will come together without overcrowding when reaching maturity.

Planting should begin in the spring as soon as the ground is dry enough to work. Fall planting is best carried out as soon as the leaves have fallen from surrounding trees and bushes.

It is best to plant stock as soon as possible.

NEW YORK STOCKS.
(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 13.—Overnight announcement that American bankers had given a credit of not less than $100,000,000 to the French government imparted a strong tone to the opening of today's stock market.

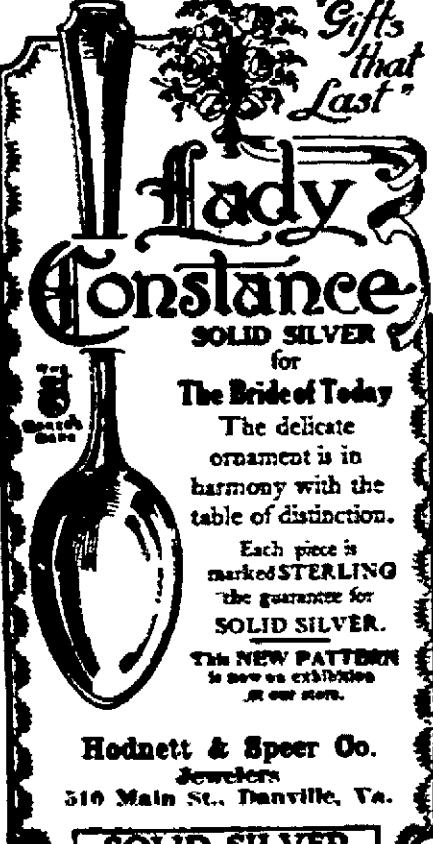

General Electric advanced 2 points; Otis elevator 1 1/4; Union Pacific 1 1/4 and Norfolk and Western one, while most of the standard industrials improved fractionally.

The undertone continued strong throughout the early dealings although the volume of trading was relatively light. General Electric extended its gain to four points and Otis Elevator at 2 1/4. Gains of a point or so were recorded by U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Baldwin, American Can and Crucible Steel.

New Orleans, Texas and Mexico and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit pfd. each dropped about a point. Another sharp recovery in French francs featured the foreign exchange market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.
(By The Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—The cotton market opened higher, but better Liverpool cables than due, an exceedingly bad weather map, further strength in French francs and very bullish export figures of cloths and yarns during February. First trades were 30 to 37 points above the previous close. May traded at 25.59 and October at 25.09. This weather map showed general rains and much snow with sleet as far south as Meridian, Miss. The market eased off 13 to 20 points soon after the start on the expectation of overnight selling orders and then showed a disposition to rally again.

—NO ADVANCE IN PRICES—

MORNING COTTON LETTER
(Courtesy Thomson & McKinnon.)
NEW YORK, March 13.—On midday cables the market should open 14 or 20 points up but I am distinctly opposed to buying cotton until we see something really constructive in the trade itself.

The advance from the low of 27.55 to 20.00 for May was strictly a short covering movement and was not unexpected. We are apt to have a narrow professional market today but should the decline continue, I expect a hard spot between 27.90 and 28.00. If the market goes through these prices, the decline might be rapid. After the opening this morning I would sell if prices show any disposition to halt around a level for any length of time.
